

2 Standards of Conduct in Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Senate, called the world's most exclusive club, is still very choosy, as the Bobby Baker case and other events show.

It has two sets of rules on conduct: One for other people; a different one for members of the Senate.

For the past 14 years or so, but particularly this year, liberal senators have called on the House and Senate to do unto themselves what they do to others.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, New York Republican, put it this way:

"Congress is constantly laying down regulations for the conduct of those in the executive branch, telling them what they should and shouldn't do."

"It is not right for us to exempt the legislative branch from the rules and regulations we have imposed on the executive branch."

He called it a double-standard and said "it has undermined confidence in our good faith."

This is what he was talking about:

Congress has taken various steps to prevent conflict of interest among employees of the executive branch of government. Conflict of interest can be described as mixing a government job with personal gain.

Congress has not only passed a law against conflict of interest among executive branch employees but subsequently tightened and broadened it.

W. R. Easterling Joins the Navy

William Ray Easterling, son of Mrs. Ola Mae Luzader of 1226 E. 5th St., enlisted in the U.S. Navy on January 14 through the U.S. Navy Recruiting Station in Texarkana.

After completing his enlistment in Little Rock he was flown via commercial airline to the U.S. Navy Training Center San Diego, California where he will take his recruit training to acquaint himself with Navy life and customs.

William enlisted in the Navy's High School Graduate training program that assures him of being assigned to one of the Navy's technical schools after he completes recruit training and returns from his recruit leave.

Mrs. William Ray Easterling, the former Miss Ann Johnson, will remain in Hope at present.

Nehru of India May Step Down

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru, sitting sick in the morning sun, began today to see signs of public pressure for him to relinquish permanently many of his duties.

For the first time Indian newspapers spoke of a growing feeling in Nehru's Congress party that the ailing prime minister should make clear arrangements for the Indian government to be carried on without him.

Usually reliable sources said earlier that Nehru was being shielded from publicity by his daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, in an effort to protect him from excitement. But he has been reading newspapers.

The statesman in a front-page story said Congress party leaders have sent messages to Nehru urging him to lighten his load.

5 Million Chicks Started Week Ago

LITTLE ROCK (KAP)—Arkansas producers started 5,093,000 broiler chicks during the week ending Jan. 11, the Crop Reporting Service estimated today, three per cent below the figure for the previous week.

Of total placements in the state during the week, 4,404,000 chicks were hatched in Arkansas and 689,000 were shipped in.

Accuse Man of Murder Attempt

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A preliminary hearing has been set for Charles Leonard Hughes, a Tucson man accused of trying to kill his step-daughter to collect her life insurance.

Hughes, 29, was arrested Wednesday and charged with attempted murder. He was held under $25,000 bond.

County Atty. Norman Green said Hughes took his 3½-year-old step-daughter Sherri Lynn Hoffman in his car Dec. 13 and crashed the car into the front of a Tucson market.

Hughes blamed the accident on faulty brakes. He escaped with minor injuries and the child suffered a skull fracture.

Green said Hughes staged the crash in an attempt to collect $30,000 life insurance he had taken out on the child. Sheriff investigators found a brake fluid valve had been opened by hand.

Russian Rice Deal Means State Profit

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

The rice deal in the works between the United States and Russia should make Arkansas rice growers happy, at least from an economic standpoint, the head of the Arkansas Rice Growers Co-operative said today.

L. C. Carter of Stuttgart, general manager of the ARCC, looked today for a favorable market reaction to the announcement that the U.S. Commerce Department had authorized the sale of $7.5 million in rice to the Soviet Union.

Continental Grain Co. of New York said it had sold 50,000 metric tons of rice at the world market to Russia. The firm said the rice will be part of the existing surplus in Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas.

Carter said that although it is difficult to say there is a surplus in Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas ("it's a surplus in the industry or states"), rice growers nevertheless will be jubilant.

The rice deal will trim the surplus in the industry, he said, and rice growers hope this will enable them to continue planting their present acreage allotments, prevent any reduction in the allotments, and possibly lead to an expansion of the allotments in the future.

He said he was discussing the deal from the economic viewpoint, and was aware that there were other sides to the question — such as whether the U.S. should sell rice to Iron Curtain countries.

Market prices on rice before the announcement of the deal varied from about $7.75 per hundredweight to about $10 per hundredweight, depending on the quality of the rice, Carter said.

He would not venture a guess as to how favorably — in dollars and cents — the market might be affected.

Carter said the 50,000 metric tons equal 1,100,000 hundredweight bags of milled rice, or about five per cent of the 1963 U.S. rice crop.

"We're having the most important coffee break of the year in Hope tomorrow," declared Mrs. Lura Impson, campaign director of the 1964 March of Dimes.

"It's important," she said, "because of what it can mean to some baby born with a serious birth defect or some young adult suffering from painful and crippling rheumatoid arthritis."

Mrs. Impson explained there would be no charge for coffee served at Perry's Truck Stop, Plaza Restaurant, Bobo's Drive-In, Joe's City Bakery, Ideal Cafe, Diamond Cafe, Barlow Hotel and Dean's Truck Stop. Instead, contributions will be accepted for support of the March of Dimes.

Also, serving coffee all day Friday and Saturday for the March of Dimes will be Childs Good Store and Safeway. Barry's Grocery and J & W Cafe will give a contribution instead of a Day's Coffee.

Vatican to Discontinue Swiss Guard

Rumor

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Rumors circulated at the Vatican today that the 450-year-old Swiss guard may be a casualty in the modernization program of the Roman Catholic church.

Vatican officials said they had no information to support the rumors that the picturesque stalwarts in renaissance uniforms designed by Michelangelo would be eliminated. But Vatican circles felt there was possibly a good basis for the rumors.

Pope Paul VI told Roman nobles and aristocrats Tuesday their ceremonial roles at the Vatican might be changed. He noted that the nobles had a special place at the Vatican because of ties to the papacy when he had temporal power. Now he said, the papacy was entirely absorbed in spiritual duties.

Swiss guards also play largely a ceremonial role at the Vatican. The guard dates its foundation from Jan. 21, 1506, when 150 Swiss soldiers entered Rome to serve Pope Julius II.

In 1527, 147 out of 189 Swiss guards were killed while successfully defending Pope Clement VII from German and Spanish troops sacking Rome.

The guards still vow to fight to the death to defend the Pope.

Sailor Is Accused of Killing 3

HIGHLAND PARK, N.J. (AP) — A 19-year-old sailor killed his mother and two younger brothers with a claw hammer Wednesday, police said.

The youth, John V. Cheetham, told a magistrate as he was being arraigned: "I'm guilty." An argument with his mother, Iga, 41, apparently over money, touched off the slayings, police said.

The mother's body was found on the kitchen floor of the family apartment. Cheetham's brothers, Douglas, 10, and Andrew, 6, were found in a bedroom.

Cheetham, a third class petty officer, was separated from his ship, the Salisbury Sound, in San Diego came home on leave Jan. 1.

Cuban Way Is Not for Zanzibar

ZANZIBAR (AP) — Foreign Minister Abdul Rohman Mohammed Babu said today that Zanzibar's new government will be Socialist but will not necessarily follow the Cuban pattern.

In a roadside interview Babu said the island "quite possibly" will remain within the British commonwealth.

Babu, who has been known for Communist sympathies, was accompanied by four armed lieutenants. One said he had been trained in Cuba along with "many" Zanzibaris.

Several other Zanzibari rebels are believed to have been trained in Peking and a correspondent of Communist China's New China news agency (NCNA) arrived here Jan. 10, two days before the revolution.

(In London, Western and African diplomats speculated that Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai, now on a tour of Africa, might visit Zanzibar to display Peking's support for the revolutionaries.)

It Was Mark Twain Who Said: "Easy — I've Quit Smoking Thousand Times"

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The cigarette addicts who used to get smoke in our eyes now simply get in our hair.

Since they swore off the filthy weed as a result of the present health scare, they have become matchless bories.

Mark Twain pointed out long ago there was no problem in quitting smoking. "I've done it a thousand times," he said.

But the current crop of swear-offers is making a big production out of it. If you look around your own social circle, you may find the following types of ex-smokers familiar—perhaps only too familiar:

The Crusader — Not content with giving up smoking himself, he wants everyone else to quit, too. "If I had my way," he mutters darkly, "I'd put a torch to every tobacco field in the country."

Secret Backslider — He denounces nicotine in public, but several times a day sneaks out to the office washroom and smokes three cigarettes like crazy. Then he chews a couple of mints so no one can smell tobacco on his breath.

Rational Abstainer — This cheapskate hasn't quit smoking cigarettes. He has just quit buying them. By the end of the day he has put away three packs—all borrowed. He borrows the matches, too.

New Winter Storm Will Cross South

ATLANTA (AP) — Another winter storm brought snow and ice to the central portion of the Southeast today. It was the fourth snow storm of the winter in a region where snow once a year is the rule.

The snow and freezing rain moved across the region from the Southwest. The storm developed over the northwest Gulf of Mexico and is following a pattern set by earlier winter storms.

The Weather Bureau issued a critical weather warning including a wide area from parts of southwest and central Texas through east central and northeast Texas, southeast Oklahoma, southern Arkansas, northern Louisiana, portions of Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and southern Tennessee.

Cold weather dealt Florida a damaging blow Wednesday. The state's winter vegetable crop was damaged, but there was little damage to the citrus crop.

Florida temperatures are not expected to dip below freezing in the aftermath of the current storm as has happened in earlier storms.

Heavy snow fell in north central and northeastern Texas and spread into northern Louisiana and southern Arkansas. Five inches snow fell in a six-hour period in Dallas and four inches in Fort Worth. Rain and some

Big Estate Is Left by Rocky's Son

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — Michael Rockefeller, who disappeared while studying primitive culture in New Guinea two years ago, left an estate worth $660,000.

This was stated in an affidavit by his father, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in a Surrogate's Court action begun this week to have young Rockefeller legally declared dead.

The governor, with the consent of his divorced first wife, Mary Clark Rockefeller, initiated the proceeding, and asked that John E. Lockwood, a lawyer who lives in suburban Bedford, be named administrator.

Michael Rockefeller, 23, disappeared off the jungles of New Guinea Nov. 19, 1961, when he tried to swim two miles to shore from a disabled native boat. He was on an expedition to collect primitive art and culture in an area described as one of the wildest in the world.

The governor's affidavit said Michael left no will. By law, his estate thus would go to his parents, unless they waived their claim, in which case it would be assigned to his brothers and sisters, lawyers said.

Giant Bobcat Is Killed by State Senator Hendrix

THE LARGEST BOBCAT EVER BROUGHT INTO THE Star office for a photograph is pictured above with State Senator Olen Hendrix of Prescott. It was estimated to weigh more than 50 pounds.

SENATOR HENDRIX WAS DRIVING FROM Prescott to Bois d'Arc Lake Wednesday to inspect the state-owned hunting and fishing preserve when the giant cat dashed across U.S. 67 at the Garland Creek bridge, just east of the turn-off to the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment Station.

THE SENATOR WHIPPED HIS CAR ONTO THE shoulder of the road, grabbed his shotgun and killed the cat. "You must have moved pretty fast," said the photographer; and the senator replied: "Yes, I did some maneuvering."

Extra State Aid Likely for Schools

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Education Commissioner Arch Ford said today that it is possible Arkansas school districts will get an extra $1 to $2 million this year because state revenues are increasing faster than expected.

"It's not only possible, it looks probable at this point," Ford said.

The state Board of Education will survey revenue figures in March or April and decide how much additional money will be available, Ford said.

Payments to the district will be made before the end of this school term, he added.

The 415 districts now are receiving a total of $54,555,175 in minimum foundation aid, teacher retirement benefits and transportation aid.

Ford said about 90 per cent of any additional money will go for increasing teacher salaries and 10 per cent for transportation aid.

Education Department officials have calculated in the past that each additional $1 million placed in the public school fund will provide an increase of $65 per teacher per year.

The allocation of additional money depends only, Ford said, on tax collections continuing at the present rate. Collections have been running $4 to $5 million a month ahead of last year.

The additional money will be provided, Ford said, regardless of who is a candidate for governor in this summer's primary elections. The Education Department was criticized two years ago for distributing an extra $1 million while Gov. Orval E. Faubus was engaged in a fifth term campaign.

U.S., Panama Diplomatic Tie Resumed

By THEODORE A. EDIGE R

PANAMA (AP)—The United States and Panama agreed today to re-establish diplomatic relations "as quickly as possible" and to open discussions 30 days after resumption of relations on all issues between the two countries.

The agreement did not specifically mention the treaty giving the United States control of the Panama Canal Zone which Panama wants revised. But its language made clear this would be among the issues to be discussed.

Panamanian President Roberto Chari's press officer, Fabian Velarde, said his government would wait awhile, perhaps a week, "to let things cool off" before resuming relations with the United States.

He said Panama then would ask a third government to advise Washington of the desire to restore relations, which Chari broke off at the height of the crisis last weekend. The intermediary is expected to be Costa Rica, which was named to handle Panama's affairs in Washington during the break.

The agreement was reached by Edwin M. Martin, President Johnson's special envoy, and Panamanian Foreign Minister Galileo Solis, meeting with the peace committee of the Organization of American States. Martin, Solis and the OAS group had been negotiating since Sunday night.

A communique issued by the OAS committee said Panama and the United States "agreed to begin formal discussions which will be initiated 30 days after diplomatic relations are re-established by means of representatives who will have sufficient powers to discuss without limitations all existing matters of any nature which may affect the relationship."

Civil Rule Returns to Panama

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House repeated today that "the United States government is ready and willing to discuss all problems affecting the relationship between the United States and Panama."

In the wake of an uproar threatening an agreement to end the Panamanian dispute, Press Secretary Pierre Salinger made that statement to reporters and added:

"It was our understanding the government of Panama was also willing to undertake these discussions. Our position is unchanged."

Salinger emphasized the word "our."

Panama has gone back to a previous stand that it wants assurances that the United States will negotiate differences over the Panama Canal before normal diplomatic relations are restored.

This country's position is that it has agreed only to discussions on that, along with other matters.

Administration officials said the United States is not willing to concede in advance that it will do anything—but it definitely is willing to discuss all outstanding problems.

Earlier in the day the Army turned back control of the Canal Zone to its civilian government even as the new eruption of differences threatened to wreck the one-day-old diplomatic truce agreement.

High U.S. officials said the situation was very confused.

They hope for clarification in a meeting to be held by U.S. trouble-shooter Edwin M. Martin and Panamanian President Roberto Chari in the course of the day. Chari requested Martin to see him. Martin's instructions are to try to keep the agreement in force.

Despite the shifting developments the Defense Department announced that the Army had turned back to civilian authorities responsibility for security in the Canal Zone.

Gov. Robert J. Fleming Jr. turned over control to Gen. Andrew J. O'Meara, Army commander in the zone, last Friday, when riotous mobs began attacking U.S. installations and personnel. The violence cost the lives of four American soldiers and 21 Panamanians. Scores were wounded.

Wednesday, U.S. - Panamanian negotiations resulted in an agreement sponsored by the five - nation Inter - American Peace Commission that the two countries would resume normal diplomatic relations and 30 days thereafter would put all their problems on the conference table.

The United States said the agreement was to "discuss" the problems. Panama said it was to "negotiate."

Within 24 hours of the announcement of this peace deal, Chari told a throng of demon-

Italy Is on Its Own, Says Segni

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Antonio Segni of Italy has told President Johnson his country would tolerate neither French nor German domination of Western Europe—nor a combination of the two.

And the Italian foreign minister, Giuseppe Saragat, told a news conference Wednesday that the "Paris - Bonn axis" failed because it was an attempt to dominate Western Europe.

Johnson and his foreign policy aides noted Segni's firm declaration with obvious satisfaction. American observers reported. And Saragat's remark was very much to Washington's taste, an authoritative source said.

Segni and Saragat confirmed their country's obligation to participate in the preliminary talks held simultaneously in Paris and in Washington between countries interested in creating a Polarix - equipped surface fleet manned by multinational crews. But the two Italians also made clear that they could not go beyond this to commit their country irrevocably to participating in the fleet itself.

fect the relations between the United States and Panama."

The canal treaty is the chief "existing matter."

Informants in Washington said a copy of the OAS communique received from the U.S. Embassy in Panama said nothing about "formal" discussions between the two sides but that they had "agreed to begin discussions on all existing matters of any nature" affecting U.S.-Panama relations.

At the outset of the OAS-sponsored talks Sunday, Panama had insisted that resumption of diplomatic relations should be preceded by a strong U.S. declaration of intent to review the 1903 treaty that gives the United States perpetual sovereignty over the Canal Zone. The United States reportedly balked at making such a pledge under pressure.

Panama is not expected to call on the United States to get out of the Canal Zone, which cuts the strategic Latin-American country in half. Solis has made clear that Panama is not interested in running the canal. He stressed, however, that his government will seek to reduce the boundaries of the zone, which is 10 miles wide and extends 36 miles from the Caribbean to the Pacific.

Panama also is expected to seek an increase in the $1.9 million the United States pays annually for the use of the canal and greater opportunities for advancement for Panamanians in the Canal Zone Company.

Quiet prevailed along the Canal Zone borders where 21 Panamanians and 3 U.S. soldiers were killed last weekend. The violence stemmed from Panamanian resentment — apparently egged on by pro-Castro Communists — to the defiance by American high school students in the Canal Zone of regulations requiring the joint display of U.S. and Panamanian flags in the zone.

German and British Top Men Meet

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and Prime Minister Alec Douglas-Home agreed today to work for a solution of the Berlin and German problems on the basis of the German people's right of self-determination.

They visualized this as part of an effort to ease tension with the Soviet Union.

Their decision was announced in a communique issued at the conclusion of the West German chancellor's two-day visit to Britain. It was marked by an atmosphere of friendship and understanding unmatched since pre-1914 days.

Erhard told newsmen that his discussions during the two-day visit with the British "ended in full harmony." The German leader said the status quo should not be changed in Germany and Berlin in a sense negative to the Western world.

"There are no questions on which we had genuine differences," Erhard said. "Of course, on some points there was a difference in shading."

Erhard told a news conference the problem of German reunification will be further discussed by the allied ambassadors' steering committee in Washington.

He and the British prime minister agreed on the idea of a visit by Queen Elizabeth II to West Germany to help kill any lingering animosities from two world wars. Details, however, were not fixed.

strating students outside his palace in Panama City that he would not restore normal relations with the United States unless the United States agreed to negotiate a new Panama Canal Zone treaty. Chiari wants to eliminate U.S. absolute control of the zone and get a voice for Panama in the operation of the canal.

On the surface, officials said, the Chiari government seemed to be backing away from the agreement to restore normal relations and get on with the talks on differences over the Canal Zone. For the moment, however, he had not forced the issue diplomatically and it was that element of uncertainty in his real position that gave special importance to his meeting with Martin.

Today the Pentagon announced it had received this announcement from the general: "I hereby relinquish to Robert J. Flemming Jr., governor of the Canal Zone, responsibility for law and order in the Canal Zone and all other responsibilities within the Canal Zone other than the command of United States military forces and United States military installations."

There was no immediate explanation here of just how the shift, suggesting a military view that the situation had quieted down, squares with word from Panama Wednesday night that the Army had moved small units back up to the border as new violence appeared to threaten.

The dispatch reporting that move, however, also said that life within the zone itself was back to a semblance of normalcy.

Along with the announcement of the shift of control, the Pentagon relayed word that O'Meara and Flemming are designated Friday, Jan. 17, as a day of prayer throughout the Canal Zone in memory of the men who lost their lives "in the performance of their duty during the events that transpired since Thursday, Jan. 9."

Four American servicemen and 21 Panamanians were reported killed in the disorders which followed a dispute over efforts of Canal Zone high school students to fly the Stars and Stripes alone at their school house. Under a U.S.-Panama agreement the Panamanian flag would be flown alongside the U.S. banner in public displays.

quire men appointed by the President to his Cabinet to get rid of stock they held in companies dealing with the government.

None of this applies to members of Congress or employees of Congress.

Various liberal senators have proposed legislation — which Congress has consistently ignored — for Congress to establish a code of ethics for itself and its employees on conflict of interest.

There were more such demands, also ignored, when the Robert G. Baker case broke, although not through disclosure in Congress.

Baker, who had been secretary of the Democratic majority in the Senate for years, quit his job Oct. 7 when, as it became clear, he had wide-ranging financial interests and deals while working for the Senate.

The Senate finally authorized its Rules Committee to investigate to see whether Baker's outside activities had conflicted with his official duties.

It went further:

It authorized the investigation into the financial or business interests or activities of any officer or employee of the Senate, if the Baker investigation made that necessary.

The Senate stopped there. It didn't authorize the committee to investigate any senator who might have been involved with Baker.

Yet, the Senate's Democratic majority leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, revealed Senate employees who owe their jobs to the Democrats are being required to list their assets and sources of income.

A number of liberal senators had previously demanded that members of the Senate itself be required to list publicly their assets and income. This was neatly ignored.

Nevertheless, Sen. B. Everett Jordan, North Carolina Democrat and chairman of the Rules Committee's investigation of Baker, said two months ago that any leads uncovered would be followed up regardless of who was involved. He said he had no indication any senator was involved.

This week a witness said Sen. George Smathers, Florida Democrat, was in with Baker in a land deal in Florida.

Later Smathers said in a statement:

He had sold Baker and another man one-eighth interest each in his share of the land venture because they were young men raising families.

Would Smathers now be called to testify before Jordan's committee? Jordan said: "We don't need him—we're not investigating senators."

And he added this: If the committee needs any additional information from Smathers "we will get it but we will not bring him in."

This raises a question: Is the Senate interested in a thorough investigation of the Baker case?

A fierce snowstorm sweeping across Louisiana was expected to bring a few inches of snow to extreme South Arkansas tonight and up to four inches of snow in Southeast Arkansas along the Mississippi River.

The storm dumped seven inches of snow on Dallas but its slight northeastward angle was expected to bring its fury to only a small section of Arkansas.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Little Rock said Hope and Camden could get up to an inch of snow. Pine Bluff was not expected to be in the snow line. Warren and McGehee could get four inches and several inches could stack up along the Mississippi River almost as far north as Helena, the Weather Bureau said.

Some freezing rain could extend farther north, the Weather Bureau said and snow flurries were possible in Northeast and Northwest Arkansas.

President Didn't Know of Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson welcomed the Davis Cup back to the United States, gave the tennis players who won it a grand tour of the White House and learned he has a tennis court in the back yard.

With the large, 63-year-old silver trophy gleaming on a table in the Cabinet room, Johnson told the young men Wednesday their victory proved they have "the desire for the pursuit of excellence."

On hand for the ceremony were Chuck McKinley and his wife, Dennis Ralston, Marty Riessen, nonplaying captain Bob Kelleher and his son Jeff, and Edward A. Turville, president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

Johnson said he was pleased that the players—who captured the Cup from Australia last month—were from all parts of the country, especially the two who are products of Trinity University in San Antonio.

This was a reference to McKinley and Frank Froehling, another team member recovering from an operation and not at the White House, who both attended the Texas school. The fifth member of the team, Gene Scott

During the tour, McKinley asked the President: "Do you have a tennis court here?"

"I don't think so," he replied, "although right out yonder is where President Eisenhower practiced some golf shots."

Mrs. Pauline Betz Addie, former U.S. and Wimbledon women's tennis champion who accompanied the Davis Cup team to the White House, told the President there was indeed a cement court out there, "somewhere under the snow."

"It could be," the President said, grinning. "I've only been here 50 days and I'm not sure just what's in this place."

Union Tries Daisy Co. Again

ROGERS, Ark. (AP) — The United Steelworkers of America, which failed in an attempt to organize the employees of the Daisy Manufacturing Company air rifle plant in 1962, will try again.

The steelworkers filed a petition with the National Labor Relations Board seeking an election among production and maintenance employees. Kenneth Looper, a union representative, estimated that 550 persons could vote.

The International Association of Machinists and Teamsters also have failed in attempts to organize the Daisy employees.

Sukarno Reaches Japan for Talks

TOKYO (AP)—President Sukarno of Indonesia arrived in Tokyo tonight for talks with U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy on the Malaysia crisis.

Kennedy is due here late Thursday.

An Indonesian Spokesman said the United States sought the meeting and "we are here to listen." He said Sukarno had brought no new proposals on Malaysia.

The group then elected officers as follows: J. P. Duffie, president; N. T. Jewell, vice-president; Albert Graves, attorney; Fred O. Ellis, secretary-manager; Leonard F. Ellis, assistant-secretary.

Small Drop in Sale of Cigarettes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Slight drops in cigarette sales wholesale tobacco firms in this cigarette-manufacturing center, following the U.S. surgeon general's report on smoking and health.

The firms also said Wednesday there had been a marked increase in orders for pipes, tobacco pouches, pipe tobacco and cigars. The report said cigarette smoking is more of a health hazard than cigars or pipes.

Civil War Veterans All Gone, But Pensions to Dependents Still Run

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Almost 100 years after the Civil War ended Arkansas is still paying its debt to the men who fought for its cause under the banner of the Confederacy.

The payment is small now — only $15,000 a year — and it goes now to widows and daughters of veterans because their are no veterans left.

At one time the state appropriated $1,112,000 a year for pensions and maintained a fine home for former Confederate soldiers, their widows, daughters and mothers.

The Confederate Home closed last June 30. At that time it had only four occupants, one widow and three daughters. The state now pays for their care in nursing homes at a cost of about $4,200 a year.

It also pays $50 monthly pensions to 18 widows and daughters at a cost of $10,800 a year. They range in age from 84 to 96.

Another eight widows are eligible for Confederate pensions but draw regular old age assistance instead because they can get more money that way.

Arkansas first recognized its obligation to Confederate veterans in 1891 with passage of a law establishing pensions and a Confederate Home and levying a one fourth mill tax to pay for them.

The first pensions went only to veterans who had been wounded and to indigent widows. The maximum payment was $100 a year for a totally disabled veteran. Veterans who had lost an arm or leg got $75 a year, those who had lost a hand or foot got $50. Those who had lost an eye and indigent widows got $25.

In 1901 the law was broadened

Straight, Fitted, Is New Style

By LOUISE HICKMAN
AP Fashion Writer

ROME (AP) — Straight and fitted is the way Italian designer Baratta sees fashion for spring.

His collection, shown today in the Italian presentations for spring and summer, was so simple that only superb cut marked it as high fashion.

The Baratta silhouette was constructed along slim reefer lines. The waistline was smoothly defined. Skirts and sleeves were straight and narrow.

Set-in belts or transverse midriff and hip seaming were the only special details for coats that were the most important part of this very tailored collection.

High waists were often suggested by front-rising seams, and underscored by arched leather belts.

Gabardine and soft, unlined meltons were the important fabrics.

In suits, the Baratta point of view produced long, fitted jackets in camel, gabardine, pique and brocade, all over plain black skirts.

Interesting pocket treatment consisted of vertical welts placed above big patch pockets.

Faubus Asks Rights Body to Back Up

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Wednesday he may ask an Arkansas civil rights committee to rescind its conclusions on state schools or produce figures to back them up.

The United States Civil Rights Commission's Arkansas Advisory Committee said in a report that the state made "no significant progress in the past decade" in raising Negro schools to white standards.

"I know we have because I have been governor for the past 10 years," Faubus said. "Most of those civil rights reports are just made up out of thin air. But this one has held up Arkansas to national ridicule. I'm not going to let them get away with it."

"I'll have a true picture on this in a few days," Faubus said, "as soon as I can study into it." He said his remarks will be "factual and substantiated from official state school records for anybody to come and see — in other words, not like the civil rights report."

Faubus made the remarks upon returning to Little Rock from a trip to Washington.

The committee report was sent to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission to use along with 49 other state advisory reports as a basis for recommending civil rights legislation to Congress.

to cover all indigent veterans as long as indigency was not caused by the veteran's "own vicious habits, which habits are still persisted in." The pension for widows whose husbands were killed in the war went up to $100 a year and those for other widows to $50.

Mothers of veterans were made eligible for pensions in 1903 with a maximum payment of $50 a year. The payment for all widows and mothers was raised to $100 in 1907, the same year the state decided to pay for artificial limbs for veterans.

A 1913 act raised the pension for partially disabled veterans to $100 a year and this became the maximum pension for all eligible. Widows under 35 years of age were barred from receiving pensions but widows who had remarried were made eligible if they had lost their second husbands.

The pension program reached a peak in the 1915 to 1925 period and it was in 1919 that the legislature earmarked $2,225,000 for pensions during the next two years. The tax was increased for pensions during the next two years. The tax was increased from one fourth mill to two mills to provide money needed as more veterans and widows grew old and came to depend on public aid.

Disenchantment with the program had set in by 1929 and that year the legislature instructed the Pension Board to check all pensioners to make sure they were eligible for grants.

Another purge of the pension rolls was carried out in 1937. In 1939 the program was removed from jurisdiction of the Pension Board and placed under authority of the newly created Department of Public Welfare.

By then the state was pending only $150,000 a year for pensions.

The Welfare Department paid pensioners $5 a month until 1953 when the grant was increased to $30 a month to bring it in line with other welfare benefits. It was increased again, to $50 a month, by the 1963 General Assembly.

Newspaper records show the Confederate home once had 166 residents when it was situated at Sweet Home on Highway 65 south of Little Rock.

It had only 28 inhabitants in 1953 when the state decided to sell mining rights on the Sweet Home property and use the money to build a new home on the grounds of the Blind School in Little Rock.

By the time the new home was dedicated in January 1965, Arkansas had lost its last Confederate veteran with the death of W. M. Loudermilk, 104, of Jonesboro on Sept. 18, 1952.

Three other veterans — John Green Chisum, 103, of Camp Victor in Pope County, John A.

Marcum, 98, of Birta and Sam Bennett Russell, 106, of Heber Springs, died in 1951.

The state first moved to relocate the home in 1943 when it learned the value of the bauxite deposits on the Sweet Home property. World War II and economic confusion following the war delayed final action until 1953. That year the legislature authorized sale of bauxite on the Sweet Home property, provided for temporary care of residents of the home and allocated $190,000 for construction of a new home at the Blind School.

When the four remaining residents moved out last June 30, the home was converted into a facility for retarded blind and deaf children.

Costs had increased to a point where operation of a separate home was no longer economically feasible. The last annual appropriation for the home — with less than half a dozen residents — was $35,000, the same as the appropriation for 1911 when the home had more than 100 residents.

Thought for The Day
Our passions are like convulsion fits, which, though they make us stronger for the time, leave us the weaker ever after. Swift said it.

Union Mission
The Union Mission met at the Green Hill A.M.E. Church January 5, at 3 p.m., with all churches reporting with the exception of one. Officers were installed for the year 1964. $48.00 were raised and divided among the churches.

The next meeting was held at Shorter Chapel A.M.E. Church January 12, at 7 p.m. Rev. J. T. Giles, Pastor, brought the message. Money raised was $38.00.

Total money raised by the organization in the last two years is $1,840.40.

The next meeting will be held at the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church, McCaskill, Arkansas on February 9, 1964. Mrs. Minerva Snowden, President; Miss Verna M. Scott, Secretary; Mrs. Susie Bell, Reporter.

4-H Achievement Program
Approximately forty-five 4-H Club members, leaders and parents attended the 4-H Achievement Program held Monday, January 13, at Blevins Training School according to Mrs. Alphonse T. Williams, Assistant Home Demonstration Agent for Negro work and Cayce B. Smith, Assistant County Agent for Negro Work.

Honor clubs to receive awards were Greenhill, McCaskill, Oak Grove and Blevins.

Mr. A. L. Duffie and Mrs. Catherine Dixon received outstanding Adult Leaders Awards. The Special Service Award certificates were awarded to Mr. Alfred Scott, Mrs. Zipporah Merrick, Mrs. Annie Mae Davis, Mrs. Laura Johnson and Mr. Samuel Miller.

Today in News of the Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

KHRUSHCHEV: President Johnson has drafted a proposed message to Soviet Premier Khrushchev telling him the United States agrees that border disputes between nations should be settled peacefully.

But in the note, a reply to Khrushchev's recent proposal for a worldwide nonaggression pact, Johnson intends to point out to the Soviet leader that the United Nations is a peace-keeping organization although it needs strengthening.

The President's proposed reply, described by officials as a four-page message, was dispatched Wednesday to Allied governments for their comments. Depending on Allied reactions, the message may be substantially changed before it is sent to Moscow next week.

TAX FACTS: The number of tax returns showing incomes of over $10,000 increased 18 per cent last year to more than 7 million.

But more than half the returns filed—including those of both single persons and families—showed incomes of below $5,000. This category decreased 1.9 per cent.

These figures were in an Internal Revenue Service statistical report issued Wednesday.

POSTMARK: Beginning Feb. 1, postmarks will no longer tell the time of day that mail was canceled. In its place will go a simple "a.m." or "p.m." designation.

GRAIN SALES: The Commerce Department authorized Wednesday the first sale of American rice to Russia—$7.45 million worth—since the United States gave approval to commodity sales to Iron Curtain countries.

After the license was granted, Continental Grain Co. announced in New York it had sold 50,000 metric tons of rice to the Soviet Union at the world market price.

DISCRIMINATION: The U.S. Housing Administration has reached agreement with Minnesota on a pact designed to provide federal sanctions for violations of the state's fair housing law.

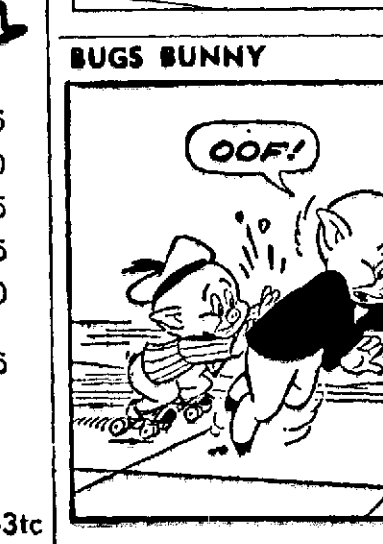

Leader-Mrs. Alcola Wade. The next council meeting will be held February 8, 1964.

Arkansas State Beats S. E. Mo.
JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas State avenged an earlier defeat and walloped Southeast Missouri of Cape Girardeau, Mo. the No. 7 team in the Associated Press Small College poll, 75-33 in Jonesboro Wednesday night.

A crowd of 6,500 packed the Indians' field house to witness the stunning triumph.

The Missouri school withered in a 10-minute, second half cold spell that saw Arkansas boost its lead from 52-42 with 13 minutes to play to 72-42 with three minutes left.

John Dickson, 6-foot-9 freshman, got 18 rebounds for the Indians and Jerry Hudgins hit 21 points to pace the attack. Naemon Townsend got 14 to pace Missouri.

174 Tee Off in Crosby Tournament

By DICK BARNES Associated Press Sports Writer
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Bing Crosby's National Amateur Championship—one of golf's most unpredictable events—opened today with conditions ripe for a tournament record score.

A field of 174 pros teed off in the $60,000 competition. Each was paired with an amateur in the concurrent best-ball pro-am battle.

Predictions of good weather through at least Saturday heightened chances that Billy Casper's tournament record of 277 might fall. A field including most of golf's top names further increased the record possibility.

Al Geiberger, among the hottest professionals in late 1963 and early 1964, predicted it will take under 280 to win if the weather holds good.

The field was split in thirds—one group each at Cypress Point, Pebble Beach and the Monterey Peninsula courses. All are par-72 layouts dotted with many traps, sand dunes and shot-wasting tangles of rough.

Despite good weather last year, Casper's winning score was only 285. He set his record in 1958 and only once since then has the winning total dipped below 282.

Much attention was focussed on the 1964 debut of Jack Nicklaus, 1963 PGA and Masters king who delayed his start to get a rest. Arnold Palmer was trying to erase memories of the 1963 Crosby when he played one stretch of seven holes seven-over-par and finally was disqualified for erroneously playing a provisional ball after rapping a tee shot into a tide pool.

Gary Player is the only member of golf's Big Three not on hand. He stayed in South Africa for his arrival of his fourth tions of the state's fair housing law.

This would permit the federal government to act in many cases where it now is powerless under the limited provisions of a presidential executive order against racial discrimination in housing.

TUNED OUT: The Federal Communications Commission voted down Wednesday its own proposal to set fixed limits on the number and frequency of radio and television commercials.

The unanimous decision of the seven-man commission came after strong objections to the proposed limits from a House Communications subcommittee and from the broadcasting industry.

Long String Ended for Cincinnati

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer
The end of an era seems at hand for Cincinnati in college basketball.

For six straight years, starting with the advent of Oscar Robertson, "the Big O," the Bearcats have swept all before them in the tough Missouri Valley Conference and last March just missed an unprecedented third straight national championship by losing in overtime to Chicago Loyola.

Robertson graduated after the 1960 season and Coach George Smith moved up to director of athletics. But the triumphant parade continued under new Coach Ed Jucker whose teams won a fantastic 82 of 89 games the last three years. Included were winning streaks of 27 and 37 straight.

Now, however, the Bearcats already have lost four games, the most in five years, and the hardest part of their MVC schedule still is ahead. UC still is dangerous and eighth-ranked nationally with nine wins against major opposition, but the Bearcats can't afford any more slips.

The Bradley Braves administered UC's fourth defeat Wednesday night, 87-77, and in the process ended the 'Cats' winning streak of 41 on their home court. In fact it was the first MVC game the Bearcats have lost in the fieldhouse.

Joe Strawder, with 33 points, and Levern Tart, with 24, broke the game wide open for Bradley in the second half. All-America Ron Bonham threw in 25 for Cincinnati, but missed his last seven shots from the field.

The fifth-ranked unbeaten Davidson Wildcats, the only other team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action Wednesday, came through with their 14th straight triumph, a weird 52-49 decision over Richmond.

The Wildcats, ahead 48-45, didn't shoot from the field for the last 13 minutes of play as they went into a deep freeze. Their last four points came on free throws, the last after the final whistle.

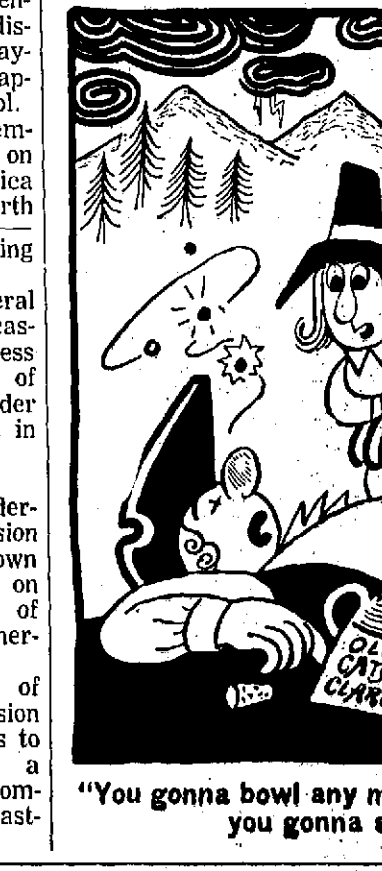

Hardin Simmons registered the upset of the night by downing Oklahoma City 87-74, behind Nate Madkins' 28 points. Bud Koper, Oklahoma City star, tossed in 23 before he suffered a cut over his eye late in the game.

child. Art Wall and Paul Harney, winners of 1964's other tournaments and 1963 Open champion Julius Boros also drew attention.

The field will rotate around the three courses for the first three rounds. The 50 low pro-am teams and pros in money competition play Sunday's final round at Pebble Beach before a national television audience.

Finley Is Baseball's Odd Ball

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Charles O. Finley is a baseball heretic.

He believes in orange baseballs, gold uniforms and a green light for his ideas.

Baseball believes in white baseballs, gray uniforms and a red light for his ideas.

That's why Finley has been sticking in the throats of American League club owners for three years and 29 days, or since he purchased controlling interest in the Kansas City Athletics for $1,975,000.

The day he bought the A's, Finley said:

"My intentions are to keep the A's permanently in Kansas City."

Since then he has threatened to move the franchise almost as often as Sandy Koufax strikes out batters.

Finley has investigated sites at Dallas-Fort Worth and Oakland, and entered a meeting today with other American League club owners holding a signed two-year contract to transfer the A's franchise to Louisville for the 1964 and 1965 seasons.

What kind of man is Charles O. Finley, who has dressed his team in green and gold uniforms, grazes sheep beyond the outfield of Municipal Stadium to keep the grass short and forced the irrepressible Frank Lane, then the A's general manager, out to pasture?

Charles O. Finley is 45, handsome, outspoken, the father of seven children and a self-made millionaire. Some 15 years ago he lay in a hospital bed, virtually penniless, near death. Today his insurance business collects $20 million in premiums a year.

As a boy, Finley fed hogs on his parents' Alabama farm. He also sold magazines and newspapers. And he made a business out of rejected eggs, purchasing them for a nickel a dozen, and repedding them for 15 cents. He spent five years in the steel mills, where his father, Oscar, labored for 47 years.

His baseball interest showed early. He was a bat boy for the Birmingham Barons and later organized his own sandlot team in Birmingham. He played first base. But he never got to first base until he started selling insurance.

Then, in 1946, he was struck down by tuberculosis, and spent two years in a Crown Point, Ind., hospital.

"For a while, I was on the critical list," he says. "I dropped down to 108 pounds."

The body was sick. But the mind was fertile.

While he lay in the hospital bed, he formulated a plan to give high-income group insurance to doctors. It mushroomed. He made money, and his money made money. He built offices throughout the country, and accumulated enough money to buy and sell ball clubs.

His first attempts to purchase a ball club failed. He was repulsed in all his bids—for the Detroit Tigers, Chicago White Sox and Los Angeles Angels.

Then he got the A's. And some ideas. He began to embarrass the other owners, both with the radical ideas and the manner in which he presented them.

Until today, they let him keep pitching.

Only they yelled balk all the time.

Flying Finn Returns on U.S. Visit

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Paavo Nurmi, the old Flying Finn whose running feats had the track world agog in the 1920s, expects great things of Anzac runners in the 1964 Tokyo Olympics. And he doesn't think the Russians ever will be dominant in distance running.

It's a matter of physique, training methods and living conditions as well as desire to win.

Nurmi, who ran about 53 or 54 indoor races in America in the 1920s and won most of them, is in the United States for the first time since 1940. He came here to attend sports dinners honoring old-time Olympic stars in Boston Jan. 21 and New York Jan. 25.

Despite his dislike for travel and a tiring flight from Finland, he seemed to be having the time of his life as he recalled his Olympic and American triumphs at a press conference.

He talked a lot more freely than he did when he was here as a runner. But he was dead serious when he discussed modern runners and modern training.

"For the 1,500 meters Peter Snell of New Zealand would be my choice because of his condition," Nurmi said in discussing Olympic runners. "Michel Jazy of France might win. For the 5,000 meters maybe Jazy, though your Jim Beatty has a good chance. He's an excellent runner for a short man. For the 10,000 some East European or this new Australian."

Paavo couldn't remember the name, but he referred to Ron Clarke, who broke the world records for six miles and 10,000 meters last month.

Although runners from Iron Curtain countries have taken many distance records in recent years, Nurmi thinks Americans and Australians have great potential as runners "because they're taller and have longer muscles." What might hold them back is easy living conditions and disinclination for the effort and sweat required to train for distances.

Rangers in 5-4 Victory Over Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Toronto's timekeeper claims third periods in Maple Leaf Gardens are 20 minutes long just like everywhere else in the National Hockey League.

But it felt more like 49 for New York Coach Red Sullivan Wednesday night. Sullivan sweated it out as the Rangers all but tossed away a 5-0 lead and held on for a 5-4 victory over the Leafs in Wednesday's only NHL game.

Everything came up roses for the Rangers in the first two sessions as they peppered Leaf goalie Don Simmons, who let almost as many shots get by as he managed to stop. Simmons had 13 saves as New York had a 5-1 lead after two periods.

Suddenly the tide changed as three Leaf goals in 8½ minutes of the third period had Sullivan gasping. But the Rangers held on and escaped with their first victory in Toronto this season and only their second in the last 22 games at Maple Leaf Gardens.

The victory moved the Rangers within five points of the fourth-place Detroit Red Wings and left Toronto still tied with Montreal for second place, three points behind league-leading Chicago.

Newsome Is Cage Game Top Scorer

NEW YORK (AP)—Manny Newsome of Western Michigan tossed in 35 points against Central Michigan Tuesday and became college basketball's leading individual scorer.

Newsome moved ahead of (Butch) Komives of Bowling Green, who managed 29 points against Kent State the same night.

The weekly statistics for major colleges, released today by the NCAA Service Bureau, show Newsome on top with an average of 33.5 on 435 points in 13 games. Komives, No. 1 the last two weeks, now is second at 32.7 with 294 in nine games.

Danny Schultz of Tennessee continued the top foul shooter with 42 of 43 for a pct. of .977. And Paul Silas of Creighton retained the rebound leadership with 304 in 13 games for an average of 23.4. Jim King of Oklahoma State took over first in field goal percentage with a .640 on 18 of 25 attempts.

Oklahoma Still Hunts New Coach

By JERRY SCARBROUGH

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Darrrell Royal won't say. Eddie Crowder, Jim Owens, Frank Broyles and Pete Elliott aren't interested. Buck McPhail is flattered. And Gomer Jones waits in the wings.

That's the situation at the University of Oklahoma as the hunt for a football coach continues. It has waged continually since Bud Wilkinson resigned last Saturday.

The players want Jones, Wilkinson's assistant for 17 years, but the Board of Regents favors Royal and the regents' chairman would have liked to get Broyles.

Royal, coach of national champion Texas, was at Duncan Tuesday night for a high school football banquet. But the former Sooners quarterback was as adept at avoiding definite statements as he formerly was at avoiding tacklers.

"I don't want to hurt either Oklahoma or Texas and just don't have any other comment to make," Royal said.

But Broyles coach at Arkansas, was blunt. "I'm not interested in leaving Arkansas. I've got the best job in the country." He had been the personal choice of Glenn Northcutt, chairman of the Board of Regents.

Crowder, another former Sooners quarterback who also was an assistant coach at OU until taking the head job at Colorado a year ago, echoed Broyles' sentiments. "I definitely will stay in Colorado," the 32-year-old Colorado coach said.

Owens, another former OU star, is head coach at Washington and apparently plans to remain just that. "I am not a candidate for the position," he said at Seattle. "I have tried to make people understand I am happy at Washington."

Elliott, coach of Illinois' Big Ten and Rose Bowl titlists, is a former OU assistant and a close friend of Wilkinson. He also had been mentioned as a possible candidate, but declined.

High Score Rule Broken in National

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who says the National Basketball Association has a bunch of score-happy teams?

You couldn't prove it by San Francisco and Detroit—at least not by their game Wednesday night. The game, won by San Francisco 89-79, was the lowest scoring games of the season.

But it was the second quarter that perhaps started people thinking the teams were trying to revolutionize the professional game. Each team scored only 11 points in that 12-minute span, a feat as rare as NBA players under six feet tall.

Both teams recovered slightly after halftime, with the Warriors getting the better of the increased scoring the rest of the way.

The total point output for Detroit was its lowest at home in more than seven years. Wilt Chamberlain paced San Francisco in scoring with 32 points. Bailey Howell had 21 for number of names thrown around," he said. "But I'm happy at Illinois and I intend to stay at Illinois."

McPhail, an assistant at Illinois and a former Oklahoma fullback, said "I'm very flattered. But I haven't made an application, as such, and have not been approached."

Northcutt said Royal, Jones, Crowder, Owens and McPhail were the "top five candidates." Of those, only Royal, Jones and McPhail have not denied they are interested.

Royal has a 10-year contract at Texas, running through the 1973 season.

Northcutt earlier expressed doubt Royal would be interested but said he "was our No. 1 choice after Bud resigned."

Of Jones, Northcutt said he prefers "a younger man to get the job." Jones will be 50 next month.

Forty-six returning Sooners players signed a petition saying they want Jones. The only ones who didn't sign were out of town.

Collegians Trio to Sing Sunday at the Tabernacle

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — The Collegians, a male trio from Evangel College, will sing at First Assembly of God, 321 N. Main, at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 19, the Rev. B. J. Willhite has announced.

Members of the trio are Hubert Morris, a sophomore from Vanceboro, N.C., who sings lead; Edwin Woolver, a sophomore from Aurora, Colo., tenor; Gerald Martin, a sophomore from Toledo, O., baritone; and Robert Reedy, a freshman from Denver, Colo., pianist.

Morris is a soloist with the Evangel College concert choir. He also appeared last summer as a member of the chorus and soloist in a religious musical and dramatic production, "Music That Made America," which was presented each evening for two months in the Smoky Mountains near Asheville, N.C.

Also a member of the 29-voice Evangel concert choir is Woolver. Martin, a voice major, sings in the 100-voice Evangel College choir and is co-chairman of the Springfield, Mo. Youth for Christ. Reedy is a piano major.

In their concert here the Collegians will sing "Am I in Heaven" by John W. Peterson; "Surely Goodness" by Peterson; and "Who Is On the Lord's Side" by Spurr and DeCou. Morris will sing a solo, "The Wonder of It All," by George Beverly Shea.

Detroit.

In a couple of more normal games, Los Angeles edged St. Louis 111-109 and Boston kept its slate clean against Baltimore 113-108.

Elgin Baylor's twisting flip shot from close in gave the Lakers their victory in the contest that was tied 30 times.

Baylor's field goal frustrated St. Louis' comeback in the final minute. Baskets by Bob Pettit with 42 seconds left and Bill Bridges with 20 left had deadlocked the game 109-109.

Cliff Hagan led all scorers with 23 points while Jerry West finished with 36 for Los Angeles.

Baltimore, which now has lost five in a row to Boston, came within three points of the Celtics at 111-108 with 40 seconds to play. But Sam Jones clinched the Boston triumph with a shot from the corner.

All eight Boston players scored in double figures. Baltimore's Rod Thorn and Terry Dischinger tallied 23 each.

A's Removal to Louisville Faces "No"

By JOE REICHER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—American League club owners were expected to deny Charles O. Finley permission to move the Kansas City Athletics to Louisville and, The Associated Press learned, make these other rulings at today's specially called meeting:

1. Recommend a stiff fine be imposed upon Finley for signing a contract with the State of Kentucky to play in Louisville for the 1964 and 1965 seasons without seeking approval of the league.

2. Order Finley to renegotiate with Kansas City civic officials for a new lease.

3. Appoint a committee to serve as an arbitration board. This committee will decide on the fair and equitable provisions of the lease.

Actually two meetings were scheduled. Joe Cronin, president of the American League, met with the five-man board of directors at 10 a.m. EST. The full scale league meeting was slated for 1 p.m. EST.

Barring a complete change of heart, the owners were expected to give Finley a unanimous NO.

At least five clubs — New York, Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit and Boston—have gone on record as saying they will vote against the A's owner. Only four negative votes are required to keep him in Kansas City.

Under the rules, Finley needs six votes other than his own to move the team. The major league constitution says three-fourths vote is necessary, except in the case of a 10-team league when seven affirmative votes are needed.

Finley arrived in town Wednesday but declined to discuss his chances.

Dutchman Moves Up in AP Standing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hofstra, the Flying Dutchman from Hempstead, N.Y., and Kentucky Wesleyan from Owensboro made the most rapid advances in this week's Associated Press small-college basketball poll.

The Flying Dutchmen climbed from ninth to fifth place on the strength of victories over Up-sala and Albright, boosting their record to 11-1. Kentucky Wesleyan, an also-ran last week, zoomed into seventh place after making a good showing while losing to Louisville, a major opponent, 72-63.

Evansville, Ind., which held an 11-point lead a week ago, increased its margin to 22 points over Grambling of Louisiana. The next two teams, Wittenberg of Springfield, Ohio and Washington of St. Louis also clung to their positions.

Southeast Missouri moved up one place to sixth with successes against Central Missouri and Tennessee's Martin Branch. Eighth-ranked Western Carolina, Fresno State and Pan American, Tex. round out the Top Ten.

THE TWISTED SABER

A novel about BENEDICT ARNOLD by PHILIP VAIL

XXXIV

Benedict walked to the door, opened it and spoke calmly. "Send some boats across for General Washington and wait at the shore to conduct them here. But before you leave, be good enough to have my horse saddled and order the crew of my barge to stand by. I've been called away on urgent business, but I'll return in an hour to see General Washington."

"Very good, sir," Franks was mystified, but he did not dream of questioning his general. He caught a glimpse of Peggy and thought she looked ill, but the door closed before he could inquire after her health. He turned away.

Benedict buckled on his sword, then rushed to the dresser to remove a brace of pistols which he loaded with frantic haste. "The whole story will become public knowledge this morning," he said. "Your only protection is to take refuge in complete innocence."

Peggy raised her head. "You may rely on me."

"Take care of yourself and the baby until we meet again," Benedict kissed her, snatched his cloak from a peg and hurried from the room.

A corporal was waiting with his horse at the entrance to the fort. The landing was a 10-minute ride if he followed the road, but he couldn't afford the risk. Taking a short cut, he rode over a hill and down a steep bank to the river.

The oarsmen stared at him as he urged the stallion onto their barge. They obviously thought him demented when he shouted, "Shove off! Row me to the Vulture immediately!"

"Yes, your idiot, and hurry! General Washington is coming here, and I must return in an hour to greet him."

Once on the barge, Benedict dismounted. He realized that within a few minutes the boat would pass within range of American artillery sites on both sides of the Hudson. If the commanders of the batteries had already heard of his defection, they would fire on the barge as soon as they recognized him.

There was a strong possibility, too, that the members of the boat's crew would turn on him if they learned the truth.

The multiple problem was easily solved. Benedict picked up a spare oar, strolled casually toward the prow; he was relieved that the oarsmen, whose backs were turned toward him, paid no attention to his movements. He took a white handkerchief from his pocket, tied it to the oar and hoisted it into the air, resting the butt on the boat's rail. Both American and British gunners would be confused. It was unlikely that either would fire on a flag of truce.

The ungainly barge swept rapidly down the broad waters of the Hudson, but nearly 30 minutes had passed before it approached the Vulture. Benedict hoped desperately that his luck would continue to hold. A horseman in the blue and buff of the Continental line was galloping south along the east bank now. He raised his right hand and shouted. His words could not be heard on the barge; Benedict ignored him.

There was a bustle of activity on board the Vulture and two six-pounder cannons were trained on the barge, but Benedict sat motionless, his face impassive. He saw an officer wearing the epaulettes of a British naval captain staring at him from the quarterdeck. When the barge drew nearer to the warship, Benedict lowered the oar and cupped his hands.

"Let down a ladder for me, if you please!"

The British officer hesitated for a moment, then complied with the request.

The barge swung alongside the larger vessel so that Benedict was able to catch hold of the ladder. He climbed so quickly that he was breathless.

"I am Major General Benedict Arnold. I am pleased that I have reached this temporary sanctuary and request that you take me to New York Town so that I may join Sir Henry Clinton in his campaign against the rebels."

The naval officer slowly raised his hand to the brim of his tricorn.

Benedict smiled as he returned the salute. "If you wish," he said, "you may take the members of my barge crew as prisoners of war. But I advise you to waste no time. The enemy has learned of my plans and will make every effort to capture me."

"What has become of Major Andre?" the captain asked.

Benedict shrugged. "He fell into rebel hands and I have no idea where they may be holding him."

Winthrop Studying State Race

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller picked up a tactic from Gov. Orval E. Faubus Monday, and he refused to say whether he would run for governor in 1964.

Rockefeller, Republican National Committeeman from Arkansas and brother of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, told the Associated Press he is thinking more this year than ever before of becoming a candidate.

No Cigarette Ban Seen in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley says Chicago has no plans to ban the sale of cigarettes in light of the federal government report that smoking is a health hazard.

"We found during prohibition that laws like that don't work," Daley told a news conference.

What, asked a reporter, does non-smoker Daley do to relieve tension?

"I talk to the press," the mayor quipped.

TV Programs Harp Upon Crucial Note

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's special efforts over the weekend concentrated on serious, controversial themes: The surgeon general's report on smoking and health and, birth control.

All three networks handled the big tobacco story of Saturday on a competitive basis with special programs in the early evening. They also announced they planned to study the report in connection with television advertising policies.

NBC's "Birth Control: How?" Sunday night centered on Dr. John Rock, the Roman Catholic Brookline, Mass., physician whose clinic has developed an oral contraceptive which has proved effective.

Considerable time was also given to the Rev. John A. O'Brien of Notre Dame who presented the view of the Roman Catholic Church, which opposes the use of artificial or chemical contraceptives.

It was a frank, enlightening and unheated treatment of a difficult subject.

Most disappointing item on the weekend's television menu was the premiere program of NBC's "That Was The Week That Was" on Friday. Alas, neither the material nor the point of view was there.

Outstanding moment of the program was a strange and weirdly effective pantomime by Burr Tillstrom using only his hands and forearms to dramatize by gesture and movement the whole tragedy of the Berlin wall.

More of the show's other material was limping wisecracks than clever commentary.

CBS' "One of a Kind" series started Sunday afternoon with a most unusual travelogue — a leisurely helicopter tour of the United States. I am not a travelogue lover but the photography and effects of the program were stunning.

The commentary was brief sometimes too brief, but it was handsome, low key and sort of right for late Sunday afternoon.

Little Rock No. 2 in Radium Count

WASHINGTON (AP) — Little Rock, Ark., remained second in the nation in the total amount of radioactive Strontium 90 in milk during the 12-month period ended in October. Little Rock's total was 14,651 picocuries in October, up from 14,427 in the 12 month period ended in September, the Public Health Service reported. Minot, S.D., was first. A picocurie equals one millionth of one millionth of the amount of radioactivity produced by one gram of radium.

party system in Arkansas included questions on his political acceptability.

This poll, he said, indicated "very favorable" results.

In discussing the Republican Party in Arkansas, Rockefeller said the state GOP is a strong, solid constructive party.

He added the drive for a two-party system in the South is "more nearly achieved this year than ever before."

Nationally, Rockefeller said, the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the rise of a Southerner in the White House has made Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a less desirable candidate in the South than he was before Kennedy's death.

The tragedy has had little effect on state politics, he said.

Rockefeller said he would not play a major part in his brother's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination or for the presidency if he gets the nomination.

"I will speak on behalf of my brother on some occasions should he ask me," Rockefeller said, "but I will not be a major part of his campaign organization."

Rockefeller said he would step down from his post as head of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission if he decides to run for governor but would not comment on whether he had already made a decision.

He said he would not make his decision public "until it's a hell of a lot closer" to the April 30 deadline.

U.S. Economy Far Above the Reds

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Washington is talking up another gap between the United States and the Soviet Union. This one is economic.

And the Central Intelligence Agency says that the gap between the two economies is much wider and more to our advantage than many Americans had been led to believe.

The CIA view is that the Soviet economy is badly in need of assistance from the West and largely on a credit basis.

Many American businessmen have industrial goods they'd like to sell the Soviets, if Washington permitted; and many consumer items they'd like to sell, if Moscow would allow it. But the CIA adds that Moscow hasn't as much gold to pay for such trade as had generally been assumed.

Previously Americans have worried about a possible missile gap, but of late have been assured that U.S. defenses are far ahead.

U.S. trade with the Soviet Union is currently being increased by contracts for sale of surplus wheat and other grains. Otherwise it doesn't amount to much, either in volume or in percentage of U.S. foreign trade.

Western Europe's trade with the East is larger. And it is growing, despite the frowns of Washington on some of the items the West is furnishing. In return, Europe is taking Soviet oil, to the distress of American oil companies and of State Department officials who see it as beefing up a faltering Communist economy. The Soviet Union will soon have a pipeline delivering its oil to the edge of the Iron Curtain.

The comforting word on how much better the American economy is doing than the Soviet's is spelled out in figures by the CIA. It says that in the last two years the Soviet economic growth has been less than 2.5 per cent annually.

Despite all the worrying about it, the U.S. economic growth has been well above that and currently is put as high as 5 per cent on an annual basis.

Moscow's gold reserves go unreported officially. American experts have estimated them as high as $4 billion. But the CIA says they've fallen below $2 billion since Moscow started selling in volume to raise foreign currency for purchase of wheat and other needed commodities.

American businessmen regard the CIA estimates as largely aimed at trying to discourage Europeans from extending credit to the hard-pressed Communists. But they also see it as perhaps a fore shadowing of future refusals of Washington to permit extended trade here with the Soviets, who might be wanting chemical plants or fertilizer among other things.

In 1962 our exports to the U.S.S.R. totaled $15.3 million out of $20.5 billion for all exports; and imports $16.2 million out of $16.1 billion. The wheat deals will raise the figures this year.

But businessmen hoping to follow up the wheat exports with sales of more American goods apparently will still face tough Washington restrictions on just what can be sold, and discouragement on granting credit.

Dobbs House Desegregates Its Cafes

MEMPHIS (AP) — Dobbs Houses, Inc., one of the country's larger snack bar and restaurant groups, has announced desegregation of some of its facilities in the South.

The announcement followed the annual stockholder's meeting which Negro comedian Dick Gregory had said he would attend. Gregory did not appear, although guards were on hand in case a racial demonstration should develop.

J. D. Dobbs Jr., president of the firm which operates Dobbs Houses and Toodle Houses, said the firm's facilities in Atlanta and some in Tennessee and Texas had been desegregated. He would not say which Tennessee and Texas cities were involved.

Lawrence Lemon, manager of Toodle Houses at Little Rock, said the order would not, as far as he knew, apply to Arkansas.

Dobbs said separate decisions would be made in future desegregation cases since "the racial climate of the communities in which we are operating has so much to do with it."

Gregory's wife was arrested recently during a sit-in at one of the firm's restaurants in Atlanta. At that time Gregory said they owned stock in the chain and would attend the stockholder's meeting.

Private Plan on Medicare Is Advanced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Arkansas Rep. Dale Alford returned from Washington Monday and revealed details of a medical care plan he will present to the House Ways and Means Committee Jan. 24.

Alford said in a television interview program (KATV, Channel 11) Monday night that under his plan private insurance companies would provide a nationwide insurance program in which the premiums could be deducted from taxable income.

A pool would be established for individuals too poor to participate, he said, and the government tax money used to initiate the plan would eventually be paid back by insurance companies as their capital funds grew.

Alford declined to say whether he was considering the race for Arkansas governor. He said it was too early to make such an important decision.

Space-Woman of Russia Expecting

MOSCOW (AP) — Valentina Tereshkova Nikolayev, the world's only woman cosmonaut, is going to have a baby next July or August, an informed source said in Moscow.

Valentina married cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin.

for individuals too poor to participate, he said, and the government tax money used to initiate the plan would eventually be paid back by insurance companies as their capital funds grew.

Alford declined to say whether he was considering the race for Arkansas governor. He said it was too early to make such an important decision.

Congress 'Out' for Gov. Faubus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus has eliminated himself from any race for the Senate or the House.

He told the Arkansas congressional delegation Monday that he did not plan to run against Andrian Nikolayev last November.

The baby will be the first whose mother and father both have been exposed to cosmic rays and other influences outside the earth's atmosphere.

He made the remarks at a luncheon. Later he visited President Lyndon B. Johnson. Faubus said afterward he had "never been treated more courteously in my life."

Faubus would not report on his discussion with Johnson on civil rights or the closing of Ft. Chaffee.

them "because, for one thing, I don't think I could beat any of you."

Faubus said with a grin that he had been advised that it was legal for him to run for Congress in any district in the state. He said to Sens. John L. McClellan and J. William Fulbright, "And you know, I have had the opportunity to run in your races, but I have not done so."

Green Bean Chili For Quick Supper

After a busy day, nothing could be easier to fix for a quick meal-in-one-dish dinner than "Green Bean Skillet Chili."

And what flavor! Tender blue lake-green beans simmer briefly with browned ground beef, canned stewed tomatoes and onion for this tasty, colorful satisfier. Serve it topped with grated cheese mixed with chopped parsley.

Blue lakes help to "stretch" many main dishes, besides being among the most popular of vegetable servings. They give body and flavor to salads and soups, too. You'll find this distinct variety of Pacific Northwest pole bean packed under numerous brand names but always with the designation "Blue Lake" or "Mr. Blue Lake" on the label.

GREEN BEAN SKILLET CHILI

1 can (1 lb.) cut thin lake green beans
1 to 2 teaspoons chili powder
3 tablespoons shortening
1 can (1 lb.) stewed tomatoes
1 cup finely chopped onion
Seasoned salt

1. can (1 lb.) cut thin lake green beans
2. Grated Parmesan or Cheddar cheese
3. Finely chopped parsley

Brown beef with chili powder in heated shortening. Stir in tomatoes and onion; add seasoned salt to taste. Simmer 10 minutes; add undrained beans. Simmer a few minutes longer to heat through. (If you prefer a slightly thicker sauce, stir in a little cornstarch mixed with cold water; simmer until sauce is clear and thickened.) Serve with cheese mixed with a little parsley. This makes 4 or 5 servings.

Highlights in History of Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Jan. 16, 1964. There are 350 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1903, a letter to the London Times carried the first mention of auction bridge. The card game originated in India.

On this date:

In 1778, France recognized the independence of the United States.

In 1942, American film actress Carole Lombard was killed in an airplane crash.

In 1958, the Soviet Union said it would strive for a 65 per cent increase in heavy industry over a five-year period.

Ten years ago — Vietnam's new premier demanded negotiations for a new French and Vietnamese treaty based on full equality between the two countries.

Five years ago — The Atomic Energy Commission announced development of a five-pound atomic generator capable of doing the work of 1,450 pounds of the best electric batteries.

One year ago — The U.S. Court of Appeals for the 4th District ordered Clemson College of South Carolina to admit a Negro student—the first at Clemson or any other white school in the state.

Louisiana Rebels Are Heartened

By BEN THOMAS

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Leaders of the free elector movement in neighboring Southern states have cheered the nomination of John McKeithen as Democratic nominee for governor of Louisiana.

But McKeithen has left the door open as to whether he'll join the unpledged elector drive or support the national party nominee for president.

He said he could conceivably favor the Democratic candidate or the Republican nominee.

"It's possible I can be for either, or for neither," McKeithen told newsmen Monday as he rested at his 2,000-acre farm in northeast Louisiana.

"I'm not committed in the presidential race. The respective parties' position on civil rights and the nominees' positions will be one of the decisive factors."

McKeithen, 45, schooled in politics by the late Gov. Earl K. Long, owes much of his success in last Saturday's runoff to sharp criticism of "federal intervention" and charges that his opponent, deLesseps S. Morrison, made a deal for a Negro bloc vote.

In hailing McKeithen's nomination, Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi said opposition to federal intervention was the principle which gave strength to "our free, unpledged elector movement."

Barnett and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama are leading the drive for unpledged Southern electors.

The free elector plan calls for selection of presidential electors not pledged to any candidate. Backers say this could leave the South in position to bargain for electoral votes for civil rights concessions.

JFK Funeral Put Sailor in TV Spot

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A young sailor who bore the presidential colors in John F. Kennedy's funeral cortege has won himself something of a fan club.

From coast to coast — even from Canada — admirers have written to 19-year-old Seaman Appren. Edward Memeth with expressions of "well done."

Some sent their letters of praise to Secretary of the Navy Paul B. Nitze, who chimed in with a formal commendation of young Memeth's "exemplary conduct and appearance."

The tall, crewcut sailor, only a year in the Navy, was seen by millions on television as he marched slowly, solemnly and alone behind the caisson bearing the assassinated president's casket.

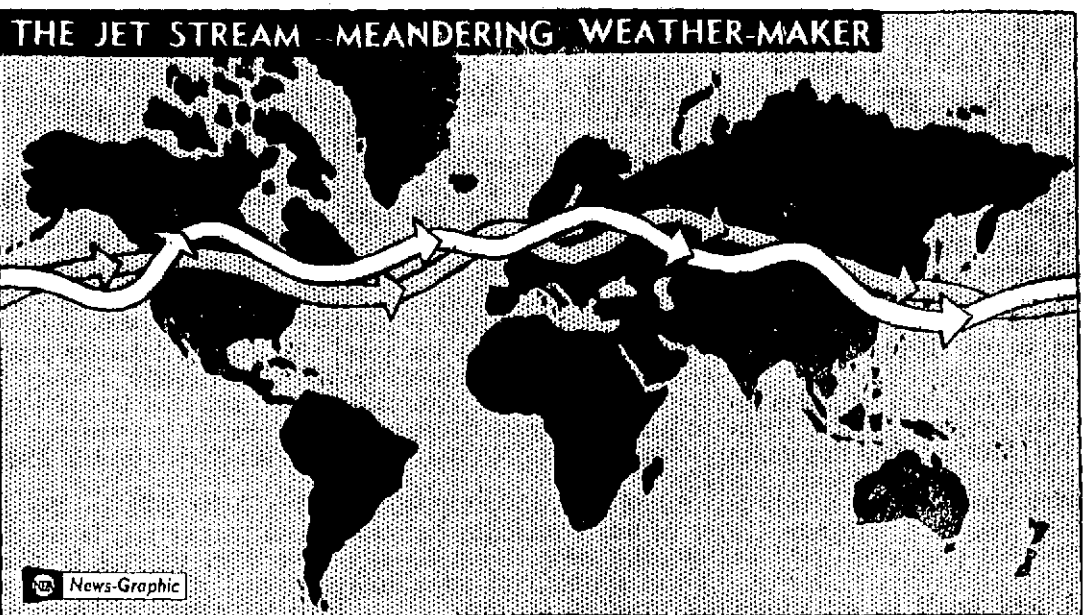

Judging by some of the letters he and the Navy have since received, he somehow exemplified the poignancy of the event.

From Napa, Calif., one man wrote: "Many of us will long remember you, tall, straight, light of step, marching with such poise and dignity."

The one which Memeth said he liked the best was a note in the handwriting of a child and signed "Your friend, Patricia."

It said "I think you are very kind and wish you happiness."

Memeth is attached to a Na-

THE JET STREAM MEANDERING WEATHER-MAKER

News-Graphic

WHY OF THE WAYS OF WEATHER—One of the most important factors in determining the world's weather is the jet stream—an earth-girdling band of high-altitude winds. Normally, the jet stream follows a gentle, wavelike course (shaded line on map), alternately bringing warm air from the south, cold from the north. Last year, however, the jet stream's waves deepened, reaching farther north and south (white line). The result was warm weather in Alaska while fruits froze in Florida; ruinous rains in California and Western Europe, drought in the eastern U.S. and Eastern Europe. As of now, weathermen can only guess as to the reasons for the jet stream's meanderings.

Castro Hand Reported in Zanzibar

By DENNIS NEEDLE

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP)—The first U.S. refugees from turbulent Zanzibar reported today that Spanish-speaking men in Castro-like uniforms appeared to be the hard core of African rebels who overthrew the island's Arab government.

The Americans arrived aboard the U.S. destroyer Manley. The state Department had ordered the removal of all but two of the 63 Americans on Zanzibar because bands of Africans were roaming streets, shooting and looting.

Stuart Lillicoe, public affairs officer of the U.S. Embassy in Zanzibar, told reporters here that a Cuban-looking type was the leader of the rebels who captured the cable and wireless company's office. He said the man understood English, but replied Spanish and spoke no Swahili, the most common language of Zanzibar.

Most of the Americans arriving from Zanzibar were on the staff of a U.S. Project Mercury satellite tracking station. A staff member said the station was abandoned, but was intact when he left. Asked if the staff had saved anything from the station, he replied: "Yes, 40 heads," meaning Americans.

Firing still was reported in the city of Zanzibar as the Manley pulled out and there were indications that the fighting was more savage than originally indicated when African nationalists seized power Sunday.

The latest casualties reported are six dead and more than 2000 wounded. But this is expected to grow.

Baker Cash Worth to Be Verified

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators said today they will make public a record of Robert G. Baker's financial worth and holdings, but may not go into his income tax returns.

Nor will the committee ask Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., to testify about his business dealings with the former Senate aide, said Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C.

"We don't need him — we're not investigating senators," Jordan told newsmen Tuesday.

The committee was told Monday that Baker and Scott I. Peek, former administrative assistant to Smathers, had an interest with the senator in a real estate venture in Florida.

Smathers said in a statement later he had sold Baker and Peek a one-eighth interest each in his share in the venture because they were young men raising families. Aides of the senator said Tuesday the land is in Orange County near Maitland, Fla.

Jordan said if the Rules Committee needs any additional information from Smathers "we will get it, but we will not bring him in."

The committee is investigating whether Baker, who resigned Oct. 7 as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, engaged in outside activities that conflicted with his official duties or involved other improprieties.

The next hearing of the committee is tentatively set for a week from today.

Begs for Longer Term and Gets It

EAST PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Gordon A. Wilson, 39, pleaded guilty to being a common cheat and was sentenced to six months in jail Tuesday.

"Please, your honor, can't you make it a year?" Wilson asked.

He explained that he would have to serve a full six-month sentence, but if he was given a year, he would be eligible for parole after serving only four months.

"One year at the adult correctional institution," said Judge Eugene J. Sullivan.

Report on New TV Show Luke-Warm

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS' "East Side, West Side" undoubtedly is one of the most interesting of this season's new television series. Along with all its virtues, it also is one of the least satisfactory of programs to watch.

It invariably is well acted by the guest performers and the regular cast, particularly the star, George C. Scott. He plays an idealistic social worker with such bite and impatience that he often comes off as the most unsympathetic character.

The scripts usually are hard-hitting. Week after week, the writers try to say something meaningful and important.

Therein, I suspect, lies the program's problem and weakness. It is so realistic and message-prone that it suffers as a drama.

Monday night's program was typical. It centered on the mother of three young children forced on public relief because her husband was a drug addict who could not hold a job.

Her weekly relief check was completely inadequate—the social message—and she did some moonlighting to supplement the family income. That led to charges she was a relief chiseler. But it was hard to make a sympathetic case for the woman because she had deliberately lied about working.

The other aspect of the program was concerned with the addicted husband. The program simply had to duck any kind of a neatly tied up ending after tossing this many-sided mess into the air.

We hit the closing commercial, therefore, without knowing whether mama would go to prison or whether daddy would sign himself into a hospital for the cure. And that is not a satisfactory way to wind up a dramatic program.

"East Side, West Side" is one of the many network programs somewhere between hit and miss whose future will be decided within the next few weeks.

By the end of the month, most of the life-or-death decisions will have been made, new deals for programs concluded.

Television mortality rates are usually very high. Each year some 30 programs—about one-third of the three networks' evening shows—are dropped. Some like "Glynis," "Harry's Girls," and "The Jerry Lewis Show" are killed early in the season. Other weak shows totter along feebly through 26 or 32 weeks, and then are quietly interred.

Red Party Outlawed in State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett advised the public relations director of the Communist Party today that the party is outlawed in Arkansas as then Bennett proceeded to lecture the official about the goals of his organization.

Bennett was replying to a request by Arnold Johnson of New York, the public relations director, for information on how the party could go about getting its candidates on the 1964 general election ballot in Arkansas.

Bennett said Act 33 of 1955 specifically prohibits any member of the Communist Party "or any other subversive party" from appearing on the ballot in Arkansas.

Bennett said further that the courts had held that Act 33 was designed to completely outlaw the Communist Party in Arkansas.

"This considered legislation is based on the fact that you are dedicated to the violent overthrow of these United States," Bennett wrote. "Your seeds of violence and discord must be planted elsewhere."

"Your hypocritical inquiries and efforts asking for an American privilege which you would deny to other free men throughout the world, should best be directed to your Communist bosses in Moscow and Peking."

Bennett sent copies of his letter to all state constitutional officers, including Gov. Orval E. Faubus, and the chairmen of the Democratic and Republican state committees.

Civil Rights Emphasis to Grow in '64

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA (AP) — "More in '64," describes the outlook for the civil rights movement which last year picked up great momentum with widespread mass demonstrations.

This slogan of Edwin C. Berry, executive director of Chicago's Urban League, carries both the hope of civil rights leaders for more changes and the resolve for more demonstrations unless the changes come.

Indications of what will happen came from Associated Press interviews of about 30 white and Negro leaders in nearly 20 cities, North and South.

Activities by civil rights groups likely will quicken within the next two months. But a trend toward conciliation by white leaders trying to avert demonstrations might prevent repetition of last summer's upheaval.

The outlook for 1964:

1. A pickup in demonstrations. But they will not likely reach the 1963 proportions.

"I am confident we will see resumption of demonstrations in many communities across the South and the nation," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

2. Trend toward negotiation, conciliation.

The trend to avert demonstrations has emerged since racial troubles reached a peak last summer in Birmingham, Ala., said King. It has not spread into Mississippi and many parts of Alabama, he said.

Reaction to the civil rights movement has brought changes in employment practices, said Ed Marciniak of Chicago, chairman of the Mayor's Commission on Human Relations.

"During 1963 employment opportunities in white collar, technical and professional jobs formerly closed to nonwhites multiplied beyond expectations," Marciniak said. "This pace will continue during 1964."

Concessions have reduced the need or threat of demonstrations in a number of cities.

3. Growing emphasis on better jobs.

As the obvious racial barriers fall, the civil rights drive shifts its point of attack to economic improvement of the Negro.

"It's turning to economic matters now," said Dr. John R. Cunningham, chairman of the Human Relations Commission in Charlotte, N.C. "Every area of the public life has been integrated here."

Boycotts, or "selective buying" campaigns, have been effective in many areas where Negroes sought better jobs.

This tactic will continue to be widely used.

4. Voter registration.

With national elections coming up, voting strength will get more attention.

Dr. R. A. Hawkins, a Negro dentist in Charlotte, N.C., said voter drives would get the main emphasis in some areas, depending on the situation.

5. Civil rights legislation.

A big drive will be made by civil rights groups to get administration measures through Congress.

"If there is no civil rights bill approved then it means a possible upheaval," said Andrew Freeman, executive secretary of the Urban League in Philadelphia.

Reform Sheriff Gets Big Bill

LAUREL, Miss. (AP)—Sheriff Merrill Pickering, who took office eight days ago, early today led a raid on a large moonshine whisky operation near this South Mississippi town.

Pickering, elected on a reform platform, said the still was the largest ever raided in Mississippi. He and his deputies confiscated 30,000 gallons of whisky and mash.

Eight persons were arrested. He did not immediately disclose their names.

L. A. Times Head Robbery Victim

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police have disclosed that burglars took $112,000 in cash and jewels last Friday from the home of Norman Chandler, chairman and president of the Times-Mirror Co.

Sgt. Dale Dennis said Tuesday the loot was taken from two second-floor dressing rooms while Chandler and his wife were sleeping nearby.

See Banner Year for Space Shots

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Cape Kennedy's launching pads are bulging with rockets primed to ignite what could be a banner year in space for the United States.

Three are scheduled for launching during the last 10 days of January. They are the Relay 2 communications satellite, Jan. 21; the first two-stage test firing of Saturn 1, believed to be the world's mightiest rocket, Jan. 27; and the planned flight of the Ranger 6 spacecraft to snap close-up television pictures of the moon, Jan. 30.

The Titan 2 rocket is being groomed for the first flight in this nation's next man-in-space program, Project Gemini. The launching in March will attempt to hurl a dummy model of the two-man spacecraft into orbit. Two other unmanned launchings are scheduled before the first astronaut orbital mission, set for November.

These are among 29 space shots scheduled from Cape Kennedy in 1964—an average of one every 12 days as the National Aeronautics and Space Administration pushes toward a goal of a manned lunar landing late in the decade.

This compares with only 10 space launchings here in 1963.

Junior C.C. Chosen to Be on TV

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Ten men named the outstanding young men of 1963 by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce will be honored at a televised ceremony Jan. 25.

Picked as the recipients of the junior chamber's annual honors were:

Sen. Birch E. Vayh Jr., 35, of Terre Haute, Ind., who defeated 18-year Senate veteran Homer Capehart last year.

Dr. Zbigniew Brzezinski, 36, Warsaw-born director of Columbia University's research institute on Communist affairs. He is consultant to the State Department and the Rand Corp.

John Mack Carter, 35, New York City, who has been editor of McCall's magazine for two years.

Jerome P. Cavanaugh, 35, mayor of Detroit, elected in 1961 by a margin of 40,000 votes. He has concentrated on industrial progress and creation of jobs.

Rep. Edgar F. Foreman Jr., 30, Odessa, Tex., was an oil industry engineer before becoming the youngest member of the 88th Congress.

A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., 35, Philadelphia, Pa., member of the Federal Trade Commission, is the youngest commission member in history, and is the first Negro to be named to a federal regulatory agency.

Thomas S. Mackey, 33, Texas City, Tex., general manager of the world's largest tin smelter, helped negotiate a contract last year to smelt Bolivian tin concentrates which was hailed as stalemating a Russian offer to build a tin smelter in Bolivia.

George Stevens Jr., 31, Washington, D.C., son of Hollywood director George Stevens, is a producer-director for the U.S. Information Agency and is credited with revolutionizing the quality of motion pictures made by the agency.

James W. Whittaker, 34, Redmond, Wash., planted the U.S. flag atop 29,028-foot Mt. Everest last May 1. He has been

Chandler Thinks of Governorship

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Winston G. Chandler, 44, unsuccessful candidate against U.S. Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., in 1962, said Tuesday he might run for governor if Gov. Orval E. Faubus does not seek a sixth term.

Chandler also lost in 1954 as a candidate for representative from Pulaski County. He is on the Pulaski County Rural School Board.

GOP Backs President on Panama

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson got Republican advice today to follow a hold-the-line policy aimed at restoring relations with Panama without yielding U.S. treaty rights. Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he believes the crisis is watching the Panama world to determine whether the new administration will make concessions when American interests are made the object of violence.

"The President certainly will have Republican support if he holds the line and doesn't yield to demands that we reassess our treaty rights," Dirksen said in an interview.

"We are in the amazing position of having a country with one-third the population of Chicago kicking us around. If we crumble in Panama, the reverberations of our actions will be felt around the world."

Dirksen said he had not been consulted about the administration's course in the Canal Zone crisis. He added he expects to see Johnson shortly.

The President briefed Democratic congressional leaders on the situation Tuesday.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, chairman of the Conference of All Republican Senators, told the Senate the United States must be just in dealing with Panamanian complaints. But he took the same position as Dirksen, that treaty rights governing operation of the canal must not be watered down.

Plant Closing Ups county Cost

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Union County Quorum Court voted Monday to increase the county budget for the coming year by $53,581 in order to meet financial obligations resulting from the closing of the Chase - Grocord Rubber Co. The firm was financed under Act 49 bond issues and defaulted rent payments to the county when it went bankrupt.

Waterworks Aid for Paragould

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — An Accelerated Public Works grant of $360,000 has been approved for improvements of the water and sewer system at Paragould. The city will match the funds with $845,000 and expects another federal grant of $572,913 for the project, which is expected to cost $1.5 million.

Byrnes Sets Up Trust in Dispute

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Rep. John Byrnes, R-Wis., announced today that he and his wife have transferred ownership "of all the Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Corp. stock in our possession" to Scholarship Inc., a nonprofit foundation in his hometown.

The action fulfilled a promise Byrnes made to the House of Representatives Nov. 21 in a floor speech, after disclosure that he had purchased stock in the spectacularly successful Milwaukee-based firm three years ago at a preferential price.

Byrnes, who has agreed to run in the Wisconsin preferential primary in April as a favorite-son candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, told the House he did not know he was given a preferential price by MGIC officials.

John R. Rose, treasurer of Scholarship Inc., said the Byrnes' 966 shares of stock were sold Monday for a net of $24,580. He said Byrnes would be reimbursed $2,300—his original investment—and the foundation would realize $22,280 from the gift.

Want Barry to Tie Up Senate Seat

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's draft number may come up again—this time with supporters of the Arizona urging him to run for re-election to the Senate even if he becomes the Republican presidential nominee.

With Goldwater in the race for the GOP nomination, the draft organization that spent nine months urging him to seek the presidency has gone out of business.

There's talk today of another draft-style movement to provide some insurance against an unsuccessful bid for the White House next November.

"So far there's nothing organized along this line that I know of," said Ted Kazy, the senator's administrative assistant. "But we've been receiving mail on it for some time now."

Goldwater has not said what he will do about the Senate race if he wins the presidential nomination at the San Francisco convention opening next July 13.

He has said he will file for re-election to the Senate. The deadline is July 10, and it would be foolish not to, Goldwater said.

Goldwater has the assurance of Arizona Atty. Gen. Robert Pickrell that he could run for both president and senator.

But he says his inclination is against that strategy. "My feelings are against running for two jobs," Goldwater said in opening his campaign for the New Hampshire presidential primary.

Goldwater added, however, that Arizona supporters could take the matter out of his hands

Both Flags Flown at Panama

BALBOA, Canal Zone (AP) — U.S. and Panamanian flags were raised side by side at Balboa High School today. There was applause from both Americans and Panamanians.

That could come in the form of a write-in campaign for the Sept. 8 Arizona primary.

The senator's presidential campaign manager, Denison Kitchel, says there is support for such a move in Arizona and elsewhere.

A draft-style movement or a write-in renomination would provide Goldwater with a ready answer to his critics who point to his 1960 criticism of then-Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson for seeking re-election and the vice presidency at the same time.

can and Panamanian witnesses. About 300 adults, including a handful of Panamanians, lined the front lawn of the school to watch the ceremony.

The student body gathered on the sidewalks and at school windows as a high school ROTC color guard raised the flags.

It was at the same site where for three days last week a band of American students held a round-the-clock vigil after they raised the American flag despite a ban issued by Gov. Robert J. Fleming Jr.

It was also here that a group of Panamanian students marched with their flag last Thursday and, when rebuffed in an attempt to hoist it in front of the school, left the Canal Zone and touched off the demonstrations which left casualties on both sides of the border.

Today was the first day of classes since then. When the students returned they found the single flagpole had been removed and two new ones erected.

YOUNG PEOPLE IN THE POPULATION

MORE TEENERS—Young persons 14 to 24 years of age should make up about 18 per cent of the population in 1966 compared with 17 per cent in 1963 and 15 per cent in 1960. Greatest growth is likely to occur in the 18-19 age group, see chart above. A 30 per cent increase is likely to be seen over the next three years. This contrasts with a 13 per cent growth from 1960 to 1963. Second in line is the 14-17 age group followed by the 20-24 year olds. Greatest impact on economy of this growth will be new members in the labor force, increased pressure on college facilities and expanded demand for selected consumer goods.

Alabama's Governor Gets Crowds

By PAUL WELLS

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Everywhere he went on his five-state invasion of the West to preach the gospel of states' rights, the intense governor found overflow crowds. They left him flushed with a feeling of success.

George Corley Wallace Jr., 44, a farm boy who became governor of Alabama and an evangel of the South, spoke at six university campuses. ("We had about 50 invitations but these were all we could accept.")

The crowds, mostly students, listened courteously and with interest, though with obvious occasional disagreement. There were some boos.

Civil rights groups picketed wherever Wallace appeared. The demonstrations were orderly and peaceful. The governor called his Western reception "courteous and friendly."

Wallace made it plain he'll continue to battle what he calls the dangerous Goliath of a federal government grasping for totalitarian power.

The majority of the people apparently disagree, but that makes no difference to him. He thinks the world has gone ahead too fast and it, not the South, is out of touch with reality.

Fighting is not new to him. Nearly 30 years ago he was amateur bantamweight boxing champion of his state. In World War II he was a B29 bomber flight engineer. Last year he resisted integration of the University of Alabama to a point just short of violence.

Wallace carried his crusade into the West in a state-owned plane, justifying its use by trying to lure new industry to Alabama.

"We've already lined up two branch plants for our state out of six industrial conferences," he said.

But the main purpose of his eight-day swing was "to bring the message."

He kept hammering away at two main themes:

—The civil rights bill pending in Congress is a "federal power grab" which will usurp state and local government, and per-

Teacher Pay Is Higher by Some $260

Education Commissioner A. W. Ford said Tuesday Arkansas will spend an estimated $64,723,038 for classroom teacher salaries during the current school year.

Ford said the estimate, based on current contracts with teachers, is an increase of $5,559,001 over the past term.

Average teacher pay this term will be $3,969, he said, an increase of $260.

Arkansas has 16,306 classroom teachers responsible for educating 448,616 pupils. Cost of their education has risen from $233 during the 1962-63 school year to $249 this term.

Ford's figures were released from his annual report to Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Goes 4,000 Miles to Get Justice

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — Marcus Lazarus, 69, and his daughter, Carol Mae, 24, a chemical engineer at Warren, Pa., were on their way home today after recovering $11 of a $140 traffic fine assessed against them last summer.

Attorney Richard McDermott said the father and daughter were satisfied with the court action and felt it was worth the 4,000-mile $250-round trip by train.

"We made the trip as a matter of principle," Carol said earlier.

Judge Frank Zinn upheld Justice of the Peace Ben Thomas of Gameroo on a speeding charge against Miss Lazarus but overruled an obstructing an officer charge against her father.

"It seemed that was the most important part," McDermott said.

Lazarus, 69, a retired wholesale paper dealer in Erie, stands 5 feet tall, and weighs about 100 pounds. The officer he was charged with obstructing state policeman Don Moberly, is 6-foot-6, a 250 pounder.

Judge Zinn said in overturning the peace justice's decision that obstructing an officer must be deliberate action, and Lazarus had reacted as a father.

A $100 fine against Lazarus was returned. The speeding fine against the daughter was reduced from $25 to $15. Court costs of $15 were charged the father and daughter.

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A South Korean air force F88 Sabrejet piloted by a captain was shot down by North Korean Communist ground fire today above the western front, the South Korean air force announced.

The fighter crashed in Communist territory, the air force said.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A 20 year old Buddhist monk burned himself to death 100 miles east of Saigon Sunday in gratitude for the success of the Buddhist movement, Saigon newspapers reported today.

The reports said the Rev. Thich Giac Nguyen left a note saying he was committing suicide to keep a promise he made during the Buddhist campaign against the late President Ngo Dinh Diem. Diem was overthrown in a military coup Nov. 1.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—About 15 demonstrators broke into the Japanese Embassy today, smashed 17 windowpanes, ripped out a telephone and damaged the switchboard.

Police reinforcements rushed to the scene but the demonstrators had fled. They were believed to have been students.

The attack was the first violence in an anti-Japanese campaign resulting from increased trade between Japan and Red China and from Japan's deportation to Red China of a defector from a Peking delegation.

—The world has been given a distorted picture of the South and its racial problems.

He indicated he may enter the primaries in Oregon, California, Ohio, Illinois, Maryland and New Hampshire "so we can talk about some of the real issues involved."

"I know I can't win," he said, "but it will give me a chance to let the people know what's going on—let them know the dangers they face from the encroachments of their own government."

Wallace said he will support unpledged presidential electors and the South, "tired of being kicked around" by both major political parties, will support the one that "promises the least kicking."

DOROTHY DIX

COULD BE THE GRAIN OF SAND WHICH STARTS THE PEARL

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: My husband digs up 20 and 30-year-old "bones" until I want to run, scream—anything to get away. Nothing I do is ever to his liking. I can't wait for him to leave in the morning and dread to hear his footsteps at night. He's a hypochondriac, a procrastinator and carper to boot.

If I didn't do his business book-work for him he would soon be where I found him: a bad credit risk and a complete liar. My prayer is that no other woman ever be afflicted with such a washout.

His family talk for hours on end about medicine, expenses and diseases, ever blighting other persons. They are the useless ones. Stingy is their and his second nature. What did I ever see in this hateful animal?

—S.

Dear S.: Search your own mind. What did you see in this man? Whatever it was, you must have been attracted enough to marry him.

You have two alternatives: one is to correct your mistake, the other to get out.

You alone can decide whether or not your husband is worth salvaging or if he can be salvaged. The vehemence of your letter would indicate that he isn't. Perhaps divorce is the solution, religion permitting. Maybe you and he thrive on dissension. You've survived 30 years of it.

Dear Helen: I am a high school student and have never been in serious trouble before. In fact I am on the school's debating team, active in my school's student council and in a local youth organization.

A while ago I became involved with a girl who now tells me she is going to have a baby. My father is well known in the community and I don't know what he will do when he finds out. I can't sleep and am a nervous wreck. Being only 14, I can't get married. Help me! —In Serious Trouble

Dear In Serious: Tell your parents at once. If you fear your father, you and the girl should then see your family doctor. It won't be the first time he's had to deal with a situation like yours. Also, knowing your mother and father personally, he will know how best to deal with them.

If you have no family doctor, write Mrs. Virginia Bennett of the Children's Service Society, 576 E. South Temple, Salt Lake City, Utah. Problems such as yours are her business. She's a wonderful person in whom you can have complete confidence.

Dear Helen: I am 16 but my father won't let me out after dark and it gets dark at five. I'm loving yet get good marks. The boys they know are the ones on football teams so they go to parties, bonfire dances and basketball games. But not I.

Last year I was queen of my class but Father wouldn't let me attend the dance in my honor. If my mother says anything he howls. He weighs over 200 and she less than a 100 she shuts up.

The last four Christmases in a row he came home drunk and knocked over the tree with all the beautiful ornaments which break so easily on it. If every bar in town was closed, he'd be a fabulous person. How can I make him see what he's doing to us—and most of all—me, by his arbitrary rulings? —Teen-age Prisoner

Dear Teen-age: Your problem should be solved by stages. The major issue is your father's excessive drinking, the minor one the curfew he imposes upon you. The first problem will have to be settled before you tackle the second.

Get in touch with the local Alcoholics Anonymous group, explain the situation and ask the cooperation of the members.

SPACE: Four Canadian scientific satellites designed to study the ionosphere will be fired into polar orbits from California's Pacific Missile Range between 1965 and 1970.

Plans for launchings were included in an agreement announced today by the Canadian Defense Research Board and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

JFK LIBRARY: Members of John F. Kennedy's family have launched a campaign for $3 million in public contributions to build a library to house the late president's papers.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy told a news conference Monday that $2 million of the necessary $10 million had already been pledged — $1 million from the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation and $1 million from other donors.

Kennedy selected the site — across Boston' Charles River from his alma mater, Harvard University — about one month before he was assassinated in Dallas last Nov. 22. Harvard donated the land.

CUBA: A spokesman for Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., says the senator has received reports from refugees and other sources that the Soviet Union has poured additional men and military equipment into Cuba.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said he had also received reports of a new Soviet personnel buildup. But he said he had not been able to check them and added that they "deal entirely with personnel, not weapons."

ly 6,000 jobs have been eliminated from the federal pay roll for the next two years, the White House reports.

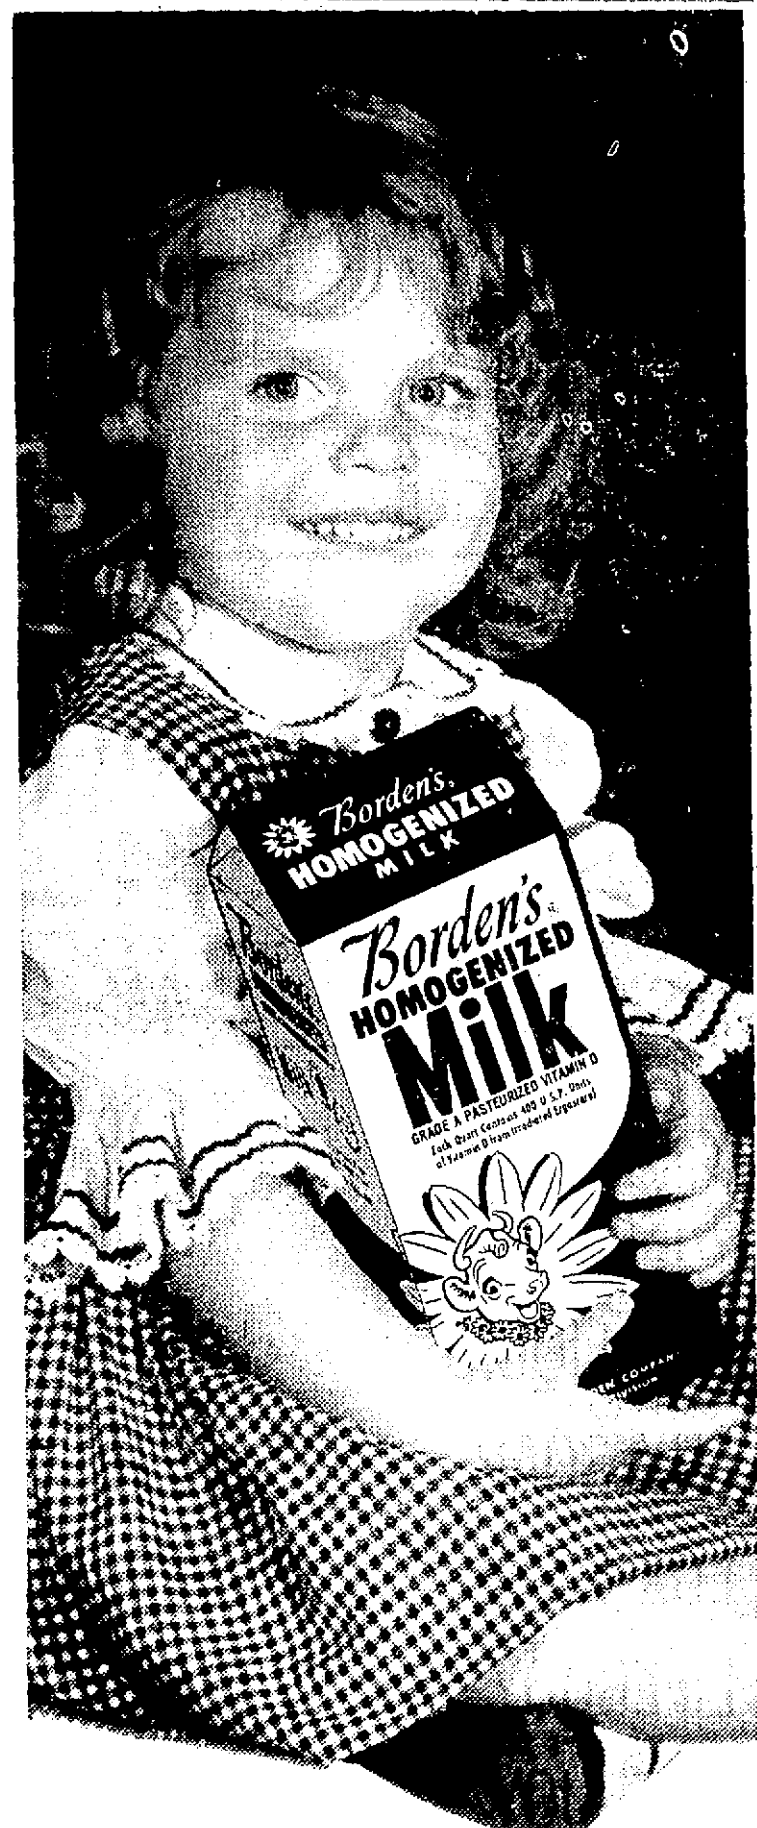

Press aide Andrew Hatcher said Monday that the heads of 47 departments and agencies have chopped 2,291 government jobs for the fiscal year ending June 30, and an additional 2,708 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965.

WHEAT: Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. expects the Soviet Union to buy considerably more than the 150 million bushels of U.S. wheat for which it is now negotiating.

Roosevelt said Monday night that Russia may be in the market for American wheat for a year or longer. He attributed the Soviet Union's wheat need to fundamental defects in its agriculture system — rather than the failure of one year's crops.

Roosevelt was interviewed on the ABC radio program "From the Capitol."

Why is Borden's the milk for children?

Because children like its creaminess.

There are almost two cups of cream in every half-gallon of Borden's Milk. Government regulations don't require that much cream. But our biggest customers do. Children prefer the creamy goodness of Borden's Milk. And you'll like the extra glassfuls they drink when you give them the milk they want.

Now the new plastic coated half-gallon is virtually leakproof. It is easy to open with a flexible spout that controls pouring.

New Yorker Is Attorney for Oswald

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A New York lawyer has agreed to represent Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy, and will try to prove him innocent, his mother said Tuesday.

The mother, Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, told reporters that attorney Mark Lane would appear for her dead son before the special presidential commission investigating the assassination.

Lane several weeks ago submitted a lengthy brief to the commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, stating that Oswald should be defended.

Mrs. Oswald contends her son is innocent or acted with others if guilty. Evidence released by government agencies has indicated Oswald acted alone.

Oswald, 24, was charged with the Nov. 22 assassination of Kennedy, the fatal shooting of a Dallas policeman, J.D. Tippit and the attempted murder of Texas Gov. John B. Connally, who was riding in a car with Kennedy.

Oswald was shot in the Dallas City Hall as officers prepared to transfer him to the county jail. Jack Ruby, Dallas night club operator, is charged with the slaying which occurred

Welfare Program May Add Clothes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D - Ark., asked President Johnson Tuesday to consider broadening the federal food stamp welfare program to include distribution of cotton garments, as well as food, and commended the President for his avowed war on poverty in the United States.

Deadly Fire Stirs Town Sympathy

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN WHEATON, Ill. (AP)—When an early-morning fire destroyed the William Rodgers home Friday, killing a son and daughter and injuring four other members of the family of nine, the tragedy touched the hearts of hundreds of persons.

Many persons telephoned the College Church in Wheaton which the Rodgers family attended, asking: "How can I help?"

Rodgers, 46; his wife, Emily, 45; and their sons, James, 13, and Joel, 5, were in a hospital suffering from burns and cuts and frostbite suffered when they fled the blazing two-story home. His daughter, Cynthia, 17, and son, Robert, 11, were dead. The three other children were sheltered in the homes of friends.

Rodgers is a free lance commercial artist. In addition to the deep personal tragedy, the fire meant the loss of the family home, its furnishings and the immediate means of support. Rodgers maintained an art studio in the home and he had lost all his working tools and some finished work.

The offers of help included cash donations, home furnishings and four empty homes available rent free for immediate occupancy.

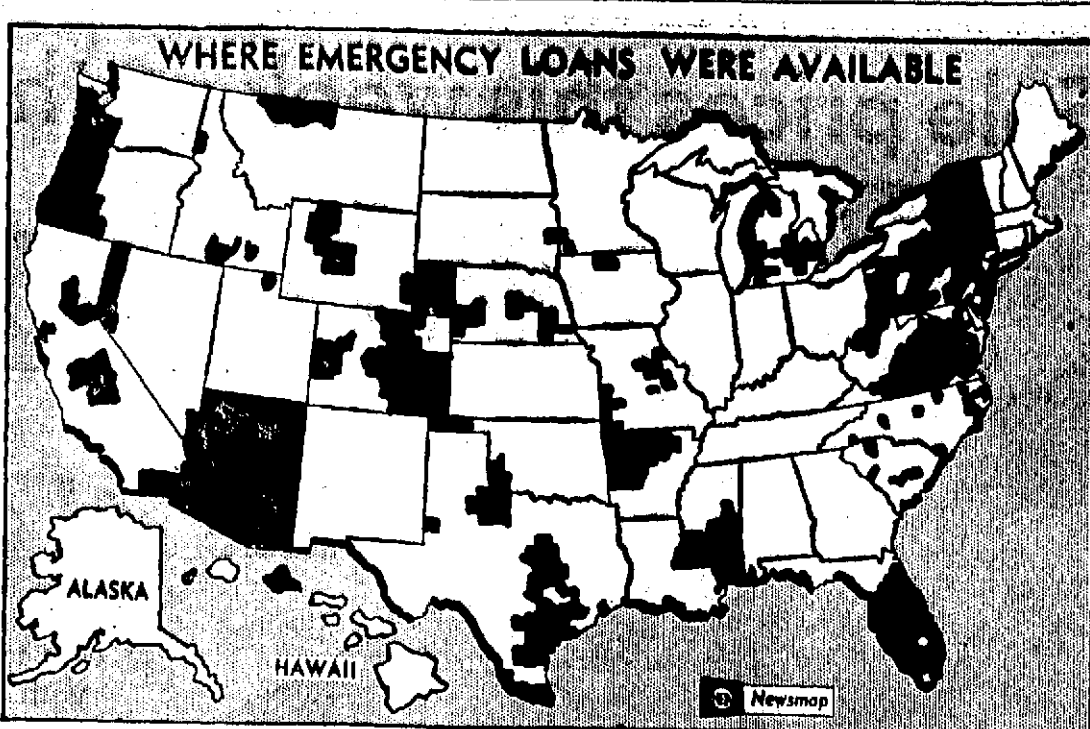

The deaconesses of College Church organized committees to provide food, clothing, furnishings, and living quarters for the family.

A two-story, four-bedroom brick home offered by fellow church member George B. Newitt was selected. Up for sale at the time, the home had only a stove and refrigerator.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers' and James were bought home from the hospital Monday, but all had to remain in bed for further recuperation.

"The place was furnished from top to bottom and there was ample food on hand," said Dr. L.P. McClenny, church pastor.

"I wasn't there at the time but I understand they were really overjoyed at the goodness of the people."

HELP FOR FARMERS—As of October 1963, 570 counties (in black on Newsmap) in 30 states were eligible for emergency loans from the Farmers Home Administration. These areas were where natural disasters, such as drought, floods or windstorms, caused a need for credit that could not be met by private lenders. In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1963, FHA made about 19,000 emergency loans totaling $63 million, about the same volume as in the preceding year. Data from U.S. Department of Agriculture.

3 Killed in Air Crash at Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP)—Three persons were killed today when a twin-engine private plane crashed in a vacant field shortly after taking off from the Memphis Municipal Airport.

Two of the victims died instantly and the third died while en route to a hospital.

They were identified as Jerome Kraut, 33, pilot of the plane, of North Ridge, Calif.; Robert Leo Fisher, Los Angeles; and James R. Drohan, 29, Skokie, Ill.

Kraut was vice president and part owner of Tak-Trak, a Los Angeles firm that makes strippers for wall-to-wall carpeting. Fisher was the firm's sales manager.

The plane left LaGuardia Field in New York Tuesday night and made an intermediate stop at Roanoke, Va.

It made another refueling stop in Memphis and then took off for Dallas.

The sheriff's office said the plane's flight plan, filed in New York, identified the pilot as a man named Kraut of Los Angeles. It had no other information except that the craft had stopped earlier at Roanoke, Va., before coming to Memphis.

Recess in Trial of Anderson

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The trial of Hot Springs attorney Sam Anderson on charges of receiving and disposing of a stolen car was recessed Tuesday after a witness convicted on similar charges became ill on the witness stand and had to be hospitalized.

U.S. District Judge John Miller said the witness, Darius Woody, was to return to the witness stand today.

The charge against Anderson stemmed from the alleged operation of a car theft ring between Hot Springs and Akron, Ohio.

Deputy U.S. Marshal Gene Aiken said Woody had told him he had suffered a possible heart attack while in prison.

Six men already had pleaded guilty or been convicted and sentenced to prison in the case. Woody had testified that he stole the car involved in the Anderson case in Akron, Ohio, and drove it to Hot Springs and left it on a hotel parking lot.

Anderson, is charged on one count with receiving and disposing of one stolen car.

Woody, of Akron, testified last fall in Anderson's first trial, which ended in a mistrial when the jury could not reach a verdict.

Woody said he left the car on the hotel lot after contacting Winfred Angel of Hot Springs, who has been sent to prison.

Woody said he had seen Anderson twice, once at a salvage yard and once at a used car lot operated by men who have been imprisoned in connection with the case.

Old Roosevelt Yacht for Sale

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The 165-foot yacht Potomac, built for President Franklin Roosevelt in 1935, will be auctioned here Jan. 30.

Owner Glenn Roland, president of Hydro-Capitol Co., Newport Beach, admitted regret over the sale, but said his plans for the yacht didn't work out after he bought it in the British West Indies in 1962.

Roland said he now has about $250,000 tied up in the vessel. It was built for President Roosevelt at a reported cost of $1.3 million.

Search Goes on for 2 Aboard B-52

By JOHN WOODFIELD

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP)—Hope refused to yield today to drifting snow and subzero temperatures as rescue teams pressed their search for two airmen missing in the mountains of western Maryland.

The airmen were aboard a big Air Force jet bomber that went down in a blizzard before daybreak Monday.

Planes and helicopters were ready to take off at dawn to look for them.

Two of the five-man crew have turned up safely. A third was dead in the wreckage of the plane. Two unarmed nuclear bombs were nearby.

Alive were the pilot and copilot who bailed out of the stricken B-52 bomber at 31,000 feet.

The pilot, Maj. Thomas W. McCormick, 42, of Yawkey, W. Va., waded through waist-deep snow drifts to a farmhouse Monday afternoon after he had waited out the storm.

His copilot, Capt. Parker C. Peedin, 29, of Smithfield, N.C., was found Tuesday after a Civil Air Patrol plane spotted a flash from his signal mirror.

Peedin had spent more than 36 hours on a snowy mountain-side; but like McCormick, he had used his parachute to form a shelter against the subfreezing temperatures. He built a fire to keep warm.

Both were reported in good physical condition.

The crew is part of the crack Strategic Air Command, whose rugged training emphasizes survival in the most trying conditions.

That training was put to the test Tuesday night by the two missing men—Maj. Robert L. Payne, 41, and T. Sgt. Melvin Wooten, 27—if they were still alive.

The thermometer for the second night in a row dipped below zero in the Allegheny range where the plane went down. Bitter winds swirled down the valleys and the sparsely settled mountain slopes.

Payne, the navigator, is from Tulsa, Okla.; Wooten, the tail gunner, is from Totatchi, N.C.

The dead man, Maj. Robert L. Townley, 42, the radar-navigator, was found in the nose of the B-52 where it landed at the foot of Big Savage Mountain, about 20 miles west of Cumberland.

Both atomic weapons — Air Force officials said they were unarmed — were found intact. The weapons were to be taken out by truck today.

SAC officials said the weapons posed no danger of radiation or explosion.

Primary Is Barred for City Vote

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett advised City Attorney George N. Holmes of Pine Bluff today that Pine Bluff cannot hold an election on the city manager form of government in connection with the Democratic primary.

Holmes told Bennett in a letter that Mayor Offie Lites had decided to call a city manager election and would like to set it at the same time as the primary.

Bennett said that under the law a primary is a party election only and that members of both parties have an interest in voting on a city manager proclamation.

Bennett said Pine Bluff should hold a special election on the matter and allow the Republican party to be represented by judges and clerks at the polling places.

Special elections can be held in connections with general elections in Arkansas.
